TYLER - February 7, 2025, 9:58 pm

Just out of curiosity, my account was upgraded some time ago from someone else and has been through the same person for about 3 years now. However, the thing I don't like is that it was upgraded onto a family account under India as the region which changed my entire newly released and recommended music to punjabi music. I asked if this can be changed and they said no.

I noticed your thread art says your upgrades aren't affected which is what confuses me. Is this true that it can't be changed without causing my account problems?

Your recommendations and things can be fixed by the searches you make. Do that and you're good to go. Idk why your old seller didn't tell you that. I do the same but I don't use India as the region.

Purchased a year account from vyactor and it worked like a charm. I was previously using Amazon prime music and felt like $15 a month was way too costly and went with the $12 year instead from him.

Major kudos, and thanks for being patient!!
