I'm a highly experienced penetration tester, exploit/C2 security tool dev. I'm looking to leverage my skills to build products that this market would be interested in, but need a group/partner that knows how to brand, market, and sell.

I've been out of this game for a decade.

Ready to dive back in and earn my retirement.

Hit me up if you want, we're kinda in the same boat, just 3 years instead of a decade out of the game.

I'd be interested in having some conversations about your goals. I don't even need the ideas, I'm not here to snake out any concepts just get an idea of what you're thinking about. I've got a decent background with branding, and marketing.

Are you looking to market on hackforums or somewhere outside of the forums as well?

I'm open to marketing elsewhere, if it's available.

I can help in below things:

- Branding / Marketing
- Tech

and lot more. I was always interested in working in this niche.

Feel free to reach out if you are still looking.
