There might be fud that brings the price down. But just purely on the supply/demand aspect, we've barely hit mars yet :)

I've seen a lot of people predicting BTC to go over $100k during this bull run, I'm not sure about that much, but $75k? I can definitely see that happening.

Needs another 3 years to hit 100k

To able to sell blackrock needs to pump bitcoin minimum above 100k$ dont worry about it, they have to create enough volume to able to sell their big part of bitcoins rest can be sold for crash and panic.

Also .. well 100k logical limit for tons of people once we are close to that range we will see most autistic empty hype news by everyone like everyday something bullish, once we pass 100k people will be in euphoria(it will provide enough exit liquidity they want), i will sell everything i have because it will be enough for me idk what other people targeting but above 200k$ not seems logical to me, one thing is sure for me i will be happy and not sad even if btc hits 1m$ after that.

Yes but you're going to get the surge of euphoria when the price soars. When do I cash out? ahh it might go just a il higher... Oh nooo. noo... I wish I sold.

All part of the experience. :D

Damn, 24 hours have passed and the price has moved up 10%, that's an extra 200£ if i had waited an extra day. dang..

2 days later, WHAT! 25%! 500£ i would have there! Damn...

HMMM let's see what the charts looking like... Ohhh looks nice and green, maybe its going to go up a lil longer..

BUY BUY BUY

Waaaaahhhht. NOOOO. My Mooneneeeeeee. It's down 20%. The market suddenly crashed. What shall I do? Cashout and take the loss, no... I'll wait it out. it's going up.

NOOOOOOOO IT's down 36% fuck it I can't take it no more my heart is pounding i better hit that sell and take that loss.

You take the loss.

The very next day you check the markets and see that the price recovered hours later and you're there screaming like a cookin lobster in paris
