First off id like to say im not sales trashing i believe there to be a backdoor that adds his commands to the loader command area as seen below in the imgur screenshots, He deleted my rented panel when i questioned why are these here, and insisted i do not make a post onto HF. He even says hes the only person whos able to edit the server in the screenshots, i wish i could provide more but he deleted our convo asap when i told him i will make a post about this.

What do you guys think below are pics and thats his domain its pointing to download a file from my bots, i even tested the file and it connects to a server.
he said he doesnt use storm net he uses "drainers".

Heres photos of our telegram chat and storm net with his bins in the loader commands [deleted]

He removed my spot/blocked on telegram for asking a question, which i think is odd because what does he have to hide?? I should be able to ask questions about the panel im renting, and gaslighting me into thinking it was compromised is a terrible way to give me the run around.

Make what you will of that.

I asked him why is there 2 new loader commands on my panel and he said i never changed my password when i did the first day i purchased it from him.

As soon as i mentioned making a thread he got very annoyed/angry and insisted i do not make one as he could help but he just ended up deleting what i just rented and the telegram chat.

id like to get everyones opinions on whats going on here he deleted our telegram chat as soon as i kept asking and he kept giving me the run around.

you can all come to your own conclusions. he removed everything shortly after kept asking why is this happening and he said the bins where stored on the server itself, which makes no sense if they're downloading and executing a file from a separate server.

In the telegram screenshot he says that he is the only person with the ability to add files to the server and he removed my panel because i was asking questions about this backdoor/intrusion.

let me know what yall think.
