Thread: Hacker needed for agency

Alwaysblessed - March 22, 2024, 7:13 am

Hello, I currently own an agency in the credit funding and ecommerce niche. We are just about to hit 8 figs in rev next month and we need a hacker to help us gather more leads. The way this is structured is that we have a list of websites that we want all of their leads from. We need a hacker to break into the backends of these websites and scrape/extract all the leads/data that they have so that we can pitch them our services as well. The website lists are already made and we have a team of closers that have been in the field for over a decade. We are open to a commission per closed deal and if you have any questions/interested hit me up!

Totally doesn't sound extremely sketchy.

Sounds like you run a fucked up business, can't work in the long run and your leads must be bullshit.

If you can't market your product correct, find something else.

This is bull. You must pay before hand for any work like this. This is not a game, you are lying it is easy to tell. provide me proof of your business and this info you say and i will work with upfront pay.
