That would be pretty sweet! Always glad to be of assistance. There's just too many deal disputes nowadays. Whether it's the buyer trying to pull a fast one, or the seller screwing the buyer. These things are super easy to prevent in my honest opinion.

You have a 2010 account with no marketplace posts and no activity or experience ever. It's really comical. There is no value in having you middleman anything, you're just as likely to scam as anyone else. This would be a lot different if you had rapport, but you don't. You've never contributed anything in the marketplace and the fact you think anyone would feel "safe and secure" having a literal random middleman for them is INSANITY.

Word of caution to anyone reading, keep the transaction limit when dealing with this "mIDdleMaN" to pennies, really you're just burning your money if you trust him with anything significant.

Like seriously, your account has 11 years of inactivity and you come back spamming random nonsense threads just this month, pay for access to a group, and now you want to handle others' funds? This really is laughable. Anyone who VALUES their money will avoid this shit. Really with the activity gap I wouldn't be surprised if this account has changed hands in the 11 years it was more or less fully inactive.

Well, but he is actually kinda right.

You have no marketplace history, even known presence on HF, at least under your current alias. Low post count, low popularity, low time online. You recently got active and started middleman service. This is suspicious.

Reading a few recent Deal Disputes, I don't think Middlemen can be trusted. I'd rather rely on my own instincts and If I get scammed then only have myself to blame.

Last I checked, a middleman isn't selling any kind of product, and only common sense is needed to know how to middleman. Something you apparently don't have. Remember how you basically said I'm a fool and to stay out of the marketplace when I defended $neaky? Guess I rained on your parade, didn't I? Don't suppose you want to mention that, do you while you're telling people not to trust me. Also, the last I checked, even sellers with good credibility have still scammed other members. For you to come in here and essentially sales trash my middleman service, maybe you should go and actually read the Help Docs instead of making yourself look like a fool. One last bit of advice from me. Middlemen need to have a good eye, and need to be able to see right through people. Something that I have been notoriously great with. You wouldn't know though, because the only reason you're following my content and commenting on all my stuff, is because you defended a buyer who I saw right through to begin with, and you just didn't. You were wrong, and now you're salty about it. So kindly don't ever post on my threads again, or quote me, or try to contact me and DMs or covos. Thanks!

No offense taken my friend. As I stated above, a middleman isn't selling service. A middleman is here to make sure that service goes smoothly between the two sides. You don't need to be a seller to be a good middleman. Truthfully, being a salesman, or having sales experience, doesn't even help you in this slightest when being a middleman. To be a good middleman, you just need to be able to see right through people. That's a skill that I've always had my entire life. Also, all I see are deal disputes being opened in the marketplace. I also see the fact that this forum is dying. I've been here since 2010, and I'd like to help out in any way I can. Obviously the person getting scammed is likely to leave HF, because why would they want to stick around on the forum that screwed them over essentially? I'd like to prevent that from happening. That's also why my service is free, and always will be free. To my knowledge, but only other people who have a free middleman service, are Cooligan and Komodo, and being that those of only two, I'd like to try and take some pressure off of them. Two middlemen, and a whole lot of deals going down HF. Now, any smart man would know that there's not enough middlemen to handle all of those deals.

As far as recently becoming active, yes I have. A lot has happened in 14 years. You can't seriously expect every member to be on here everyday for 14 years. We all have a life as well, and 14 years is a very long time. If my intention was to scam, then why would I pay a whole lot of money to upgrade to Uber, as well as buying a lifetime membership to COINED, just to scam one person and get my account banned permanently? Think about that for a second. Does it really make any sense to you?

Two. There are two other middlemen. And I'm sure that both of them are extremely busy. All of the other middleman listed in the official stickied thread, all charge a fee to middleman. I don't think this is fair, and that's why my service is free.

I don't think you understand how many DDs I comment on, do you think I thought about what you said even 5 minutes later? Stop misdirecting from the fact that you have never been active on this forum. I don't give a shit about anything said to me on a DD nor do I know who either party was or even remotely care.

I've only one reason for commenting on this thread and that is because you're trying to offer a middleman service with 0 history of anything on this forum.

You're not trusted nor reputed and essentially a random on this forum that thinks they can buy their way into holding others' funds. There is no real reason to use you as a middleman whatsoever seeing as this is the case, no ones' funds are any safer, the second you hold a value above what you've bought into you're likely gone, again. 14 years you've never been active, now you want to return and buy your way into a position where you oversee transactions :skull:

Really you make 0 sense whatsoever, if your only plan to break into the market on here is by offering a middleman service then I sincerely hope you get absolutely nowhere, as this is just another disaster waiting to happen. Pure filth, you move as if you're a multi.

Pretty clear to anyone who is a regular of this forum that you're not to be trusted with the holding of any funds.

"GUYS IVE BOUGHT MY WAY INTO AN HF GROUP IN 2024 LET ME HOLD YOUR MONEY" - this is the gist of what you're doing, it's pathetic. ?

Okay Mr. 2010 account. You say I've never been active? Then why is it that even though you've tripled my online time, yet you barely even have any posts whatsoever? You say I've been gone for so long, yet your activity is trash compared to mine ?

Also, why is it that You're never seen outside of posting in deal disputes that have nothing to do with you? Also, why is it that you say I'm not trusted, even though you're never around? You're never in the convos. You're not in any groups. You have no relevant posts, and the sales threads you do post are extremely low quality.

I could easily sell ebooks and scam people into thinking they can make hundreds of thousands a year on here, just like other sellers do here. Want to know the difference? I have money. I don't need to sell petty ebooks or in your case, in-game accounts. You say I post meaningless threads? Then clearly you haven't actually looked at my threads, because I've posted several tutorials just this month alone. I've helped more members in one month than you've done in 14 years. Also, what tutorials have you ever posted? What help have you ever given? Where have you ever been a decent human being on this forum?

The funny thing is, you can't answer any of these questions, because facts are facts, and going back to my original message, The only reason you keep commenting on my threads is because you're salty that you were wrong in a deal dispute thread, after you've tried telling me to never set foot in the marketplace again because what I said is foolish. News flash princess, who was right, and who was wrong? Because I'm pretty sure you were wrong, and you just can't stand to be wrong, can you?

So keep doing you, boo. Keep posting your low quality trash sales threads, and I'll keep being a high quality member. Something you know nothing about. Good day ?

I have hundreds of deals prior to B-REP and contracts system and I'm not trying to enter a position of power when it comes to handling transactions so is any of that relevant? No. I'm happy you can inflate your post count by spamming big dawg but you have an incredible gap in activity and have NEVER been active in the marketplace.

Sorry posting useless tutorials that ChatGPT could create in less than 30 seconds is not "helping the community"

I'm glad you really took that time to rack your brain and essentially respond with "I've 1/3 your online time and a similar amount of posts". Using my brain for about 2 seconds I can tell you the reason why, I've never actively aimed to spam solely for post count nor do I give a fuck, critical thinking abilities here are really lacking.

The biggest scam in the history of this forum was done by a middleman and you're trying to leverage your buy-in to coined as a reason to be trusted with funds LMAO. It really is laughable

Thanks for literally admitting that you're a low quality member that doesn't care about anyone else other than yourself and only yourself. You've proven me right in every aspect, as now you're trying to avert the subject to a different story. You're trash, and so are your sales threads. Also, unlike you, I don't need to sell petty accounts for chump change. Or sell anything at all for that matter. The funny thing is, if anyone is scamming here, it's you. Getting people to buy in-game accounts that have no value in the real world. Pretty pathetic. That sad part is that's all of your sales threads too. LOL.

You say you don't care because you're not trying to be a middleman. Great. That's all fine and dandy, but for someone who doesn't care — why are you all up in my ass, trying to get people to not use me as a middleman? Your words are trash, just like everything you bring to HF.

Go home, kid. Get a real job with a real income. You think you've made it just by selling in game accounts. You think you have a reputation in the marketplace because you post in deal disputes that have nothing to do with you. That's laughable. Kind of like the joke that you are. ?

No I don't have a job or real income. I live on the probably $2-3k in sales on here over the last year, that is a real option here in the US, I've also almost exclusively been a buyer since the B-Rating system has existed :)

Fuck man you're right, digital items have no effect on the real world man, half of the market sections on this forum should be deleted everyone is a scammer :(

By your own logic your group buy-in you're relying on so heavily here in your Middleman endeavor is a scam, as well as most of the transactions you're so eager to middleman ? ?. You're just so intelligent and above me :^) ?

Big guy I have a degree and stable income, yes I shitpost to scammers a lot in the DD section, I only brought that up to assure you that I don't give a fuck if you disagree with me there nor do I care LMAO

Discredit the opposition and avoid responding to the real facts, that you have no marketplace rapport at all and are trying to enter the marketplace as a middleman and hold others' funds :(

I act the same towards everyone who has nefarious intentions, keep deflecting, my doggy.

You just self banned... I don't care what you say, I don't think anyone should trust you at this point. It's extremely shady to already have questionable history here on HF, and then self ban right after people question you.

This escalated quickly. I noticed this could be a shitshow with someone offering a middleman service with 4 cred ratings.

It's tough to judge on only numbers. I'm only at 3 ratings, but I would be happy to MM a deal and I know I am not a scammer. But would others know that? No, of course not - anyone can exit at any time. I would be in favor of a minimum rating for an MM, even though I don't think there would be anything wrong with me offering to MM at 3 ratings. However, I can only speak for myself - in the same sentence I can say I wouldn't trust a new MM like OP with only 4 ratings, especially because of the long absence on their account... followed by a self ban.

At end of the day nobody is forced to use an MM, and nobody is forced to only choose from 1 possible MM. Everyone is willing to take different risks. It is what it is but if someone wants to risk their $ on a free MM, that's up to them.

It's just cringe. Almost half of his post count has been made within the last 30-35 days, if you go just another page back the gap in posts is almost 9 years.

This is just a disaster waiting to happen, he knows what his end goal is and that is why he can't handle being questioned. His answers include "I've helped countless HF members!", "HF is dying I don't want to see that!", "I'm HQ and you're LQ", just straight up bullshit, when he should be answering

WHY now, after 14 years of your account existing did you decide to buy a group membership and leverage it to try and become a FREE middleman

WHY do you think you're qualified to do so when quite literally 90% of your account age on HF has been spent entirely inactive, you've never stepped foot in the marketplace, and you're no one of note on this forum.

The fact that he has more or less inflated his post count by nearly 50% in the last month and has suddenly bought group access and awards and started offering to middleman after MANY years of inactivity is just entirely SUSPECT, I think any person with the ability to "see clearly through the bullshit" (his own words) can agree with that, at least to some extent.

Taking a vacation ban to avoid is really just absolutely shameless. Here's to hoping it will all just go away in your time away from the forum.??

I am assuming he bought an account to be honest.

However, I did go through old and new posts and the writing style isn't too far off but I also only went through like 10 posts. I'm sure if I put it through a real tool it could tell better if it's same guy or not. I don't have time to do this, so not going to.

It's all suspect enough.

I'm going to ask fellow pink users what their experience with him was like, I see a few have + ratings on him for contracts.

WHY now, after 14 years of your account existing did you decide to buy a group membership and leverage it to try and become a FREE middleman

WHY do you think you're qualified to do so when quite literally 90% of your account age on HF has been spent entirely inactive, you've never stepped foot in the marketplace, and you're no one of note on this forum.

The fact that he has more or less inflated his post count by nearly 50% in the last month and has suddenly bought group access and awards and started offering to middleman after MANY years of inactivity is just entirely SUSPECT, I think any person with the ability to "see clearly through the bullshit" (his own words) can agree with that, at least to some extent.

Taking a vacation ban to avoid is really just absolutely shameless. Here's to hoping it will all just go away in your time away from the forum.??

Yeah there were quite a few "points" he tried making, including using my name in one of them, and he was 100% incorrect on multiple points lol. I just cba to debunk it for someone who'll realistically most likely never get a single MM client his way. There are already well established MM on HF, everyone knows who they are, so even if he did have a decent Credibility score, it's still odd with the 9 year gap or however long it is. Plus buying into a group, it's textbook what new accounts do to try and quickly build a reputation.

I don't wanna sales trash though, that's not why I'm here, I just noticed a new MM thread from a 2010 member with 4 market rating and immediately was concerned for the community so I had to make that first post about not adding him to Genuine's thread until he has legitimate history. Also one point I'll touch on is how "easy" he makes MM'ing out to be when in reality it can get quite tricky at times depending on the buyer/seller/multiple scenarios. Just goes to show he doesn't have the experience needed yet, and after this thread and the things/insults he's said in his replies sort of cemented this service from most likely not taking off anytime soon.

New MM isn't a bad thing imo. Just at least have a history MM'ing deals, or being known around the forum. Just too many red flags in his replies unfortunately.

Happy to see that you are making the service available for everybody, and I believe our interactions off site were pretty good. Keep it up.

I particularly chose not to join Coined because I noticed that pattern of older accounts randomly coming back and doing that. I didn't want to fit that pattern, although I have not been trying to offer any services, just buying stuff xx.

I do hope he closes this without opening a new one. Self banning right after this is incredulous.

There's a big difference in members such as yourself with a 2012 join date coming back to be active, and just posting around, having fun, and engaging with the community not trying to immediately sell something based on your join date -- compared to members like OP who use said join date as a reason to trust them with potentially tens of thousands of dollars all in one go.

One is a chill approach, normal you might even say, and the other is "different" to use a kinder word for it.

Quickly I have been learning about my peers as I have came back, some the hard way. ?

Hopefully nobody falls for something silly like this, though. It is the more elaborate scammers, the people who actually have knowledge, skill, etc. or are good at manipulating.

The contract system is cool though, that was new for me. It didn't prevent my issues, though, user was closed for a different report. That report actually clarified and opened my eyes to reality.

Going without making any purchases for awhile should have been my goal, at least while returning back to the online world. Scams are always getting more complex & elaborate.

He literally says that he:

- used someone else's Paypal without their consent (his dad's PP)
- that his dad charged back on the PP
- that this isn't his fault

Sounds to me like he should've been forced to either:

- 1) refund because he used his dad's PP illegally
- 2) refund because his dad charged back

Kalvaxas is definitely shady & I don't think he should be allowed to MM. For all we know he'll just use his daddy's PP again to pay out a seller and then chargeback later.

You know you're my boy, but this ^

The major difference here is that he's a 2010 account member, who randomly came back out of nowhere. The majority of trusted members have continuously been active throughout the years, and didn't take a 9 year break in between.

Adding to that, his responses to simple questions at first from members were very volatile, rather than simply addressing the points or concerns mentioned in a professional manner.

Not to mention his scam report from the past where he charged back a simple $40.. If he charged back $40, what else is he willing to take? Like Hackers said bro, this just isn't the hill to die on specifically due to how OP conducted himself in his replies, and that he quite literally already tried scamming someone years ago with a $40 chargeback. Not a good look for anyone wanting to "start something" in regards to a MM service or anything else regarding any notion of genuine trust.

I mean, he's just selling spots in the group.

Being in a group does not make you trustworthy, it makes you "trustable" for $10 cause the fee is higher lol. Unless your the owner, obviously a group owner wont scam for $1000 if he has a group worth over 4k that he could easily sell.

Idk, I liked the guy before he made the thread, was active for about a month.

I still find the whole situation funny considering the "Never get scammed again" and trying to pull a quick one here on HF 10 years ago, even if he had good intentions, as soon as you got the "scam" tag there's no turning back.
