There's plenty. Warriors, Coined, Marketers (I think), and probably some others. You're in the right category to find them, and the prices are listed usually.

Those are groups, I'd assume he wants a Hack Game crew.

I really haven't seen many crews for sale since the byte increase to change the name / description / userbar became a ton of money.

So that's around $100. Does that decrease crews resale value?

About $100 for everytime you need to change something for the crew.

Honestly, no idea. Haven't seen one sold since it came out.

$300 to $350 is the "fair offer" range IMHO; what Yuno offered.

Lowest I've seen was $275 (I bought mine for this), and highest listing I have seen is $450 (carrot has his listed for this atm, but hasn't found a buyer afaik). I have seen offers for as low as $250, but I have not personally seen anyone accept an offer that low yet.

Also 10k bytes fee to transfer crews; 500 bytes for crew userbar change; 500 bytes for crew name changes. Omniscient does not need to be involved; Crew owners can transfer the crew. Note that the crew owner has to have to the 10k bytes in the crew's vault to transfer the ownership.

Spoiler (Click to View)

For Cartels, they're more in that ~$750 range if I am not mistaken.

Difference is that cartels can have double the amount of users.

Hopefully that answers all your questions.

How much does a crew/group go for normally/approx? Do these groups actually do stuff, or are they more just for the colors ,userbar, +10/-10, etc?

Nothings. It's not like a group, it's just a UB and you can play HUM together. No extra +/-

Ohh, so a crew and a group are two different things? Both of them come with the custom userbar? Where can I find a list of all the groups and crews on the forum?

Are they all still active? I only really see members from like 3-4 groups around the community when reading threads.

Some groups are active on their SF, while others busy in real life. Several groups are still active by doing some collective thread postings, members giveaway contest, tutorials and some other great stuffs. I guess you are right, maybe 3-4 groups with members currently most active around the forum.
