Thread: clash of clans gem generator

jakedadawg - March 24, 2024, 6:15 pm

Was wondering if anyone could redirect or advise me of a way of adding gems to clash of clans using a generator or some other type of freeware. I've recently bought some from u7buy and had it added successfully at half the normal cost. IF someone could point me in the right direction as to how to accomplish this or possible ways the vendor could have achieved this it would be greatly appreciated.

I'd be careful with purchasing in-game currency in this capacity. Typically when these sellers are able to give you these currencies for major discounts is because they're purchased using stolen CC information. This can lead to your account being suspended as once there is a chargeback on the payment, your account will deal with the repercussion here, not the seller.

Be careful OP..

There isn't any simple solution to adding gems in Clash of Clans unless you're playing on a Private Server (Which I am not 100% sure exist anymore).

I think there are still multiple private servers (modded versions), I think I saw one on a telegram channel I follow couple of months ago.

@OP, there's no such thing as a gem generator, there's no way to get gems for free.

unless you consider the phone apps where you do surveys or download/play some other games and get rewarded to do so, that's an exception.

but other than that, I don't think there's a direct way to get free Gems, so don't risk your email & account.

^ Yeah, I'm pretty sure they're all scams. Probably just a content locker or a virus. ?

But IF one were believed to be real, the user would somehow have to pay for it (either through ads or other favours instead of money)

But all free ones are most likely scams

Appreciate the clarification. I haven't been around that game in so many years now I had no clue on what the landscape is like for it now.

Yeah this kind of thing just sounds like nothing more than your average scam attempt honestly haha. Gotta imagine there is boatloads of people that look for this sort of thing when it comes to mobile games and so it's a perfect opportunity for others to prey on them. Stay safe out there OP.
