

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Whats your biggest life regret so far?

Syndicate - March 27, 2024, 8:38 pm

As the title says, what's your biggest regret in life?

There has been quite a few for me unfortunately. Throughout the years. I don't want something so simple as "I regret not investing in BTC" or something. One of my biggest regrets would have to be not taking a job offer that I should have taken the opportunity. I was too comfortable where I was currently working and the amount of work I would have had to do wouldn't have been worth it.

Deany - March 27, 2024, 8:40 pm

My entire anime collection no cap

Syndicate - March 27, 2024, 8:43 pm

(Mar 27, 2024 08:40 PM)Deany Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) My entire anime collection no cap
Why do you regret that though? It's a cool collection ?

Deany - March 27, 2024, 9:01 pm

(Mar 27, 2024 08:43 PM)Syndicate Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Why do you regret that though? It's a cool collection ?
Cuz if I sold it all and put it in crypto I'd be rich as fug
?

Jamika - March 28, 2024, 5:02 am

(Mar 27, 2024 08:38 PM)Syndicate Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) As the title says, what's your biggest regret in life?

There has been quite a few for me unfortunately. Throughout the years. I don't want something so simple as "I regret not investing in BTC" or something. One of my biggest regrets would have to be not taking a job offer that I should have taken the opportunity. I was too comfortable where I was currently working and the amount of work I would have had to do wouldn't have been worth it.
May be is that i didnt spend much time with my family and parents while ago, really missed those days

Hunion - March 28, 2024, 7:19 am

My biggest life regret was receiving a settlement of $13,000 six years ago and pissing it away on alcohol, drugs bars and nothing to show for it. I wish I would have made a down payment on some land / a house.

Hackers - March 28, 2024, 7:26 am

I don't have huge regrets and believe that my entire past has led to my current life. I love my current life and therefor even my worst moments are an important part of my journey to current times. So, wouldn't change much.

That said, there are things I think about anytime this question is asked:

- not taking HS seriously, going to 4 different HS
- dropping out of college, but arguably might've been my BEST decision to be honest. Just wish I knew that answer.
- going to Portugal w/ a friend (ended up boring) instead of seeing The Rolling Stones play live in England

- Going to the Bahamas with my family instead of going to Argentina with my rugby team for a tournament
- Tossing a phone to someone instead of handing it to them and damaging their eye (not permanent but they had a blackeye for weeks)
- not leaving / selling my own company 1 year earlier, I lollygagged and dragged my feet on that

I'm sure there are others, but as I said - I don't live with many regrets. All that has happened has led to "this" and I love "this" .

Rahul007rhp - March 28, 2024, 7:31 am

Not getting into crypto early despite of having such exposure in early days

V?rt - March 28, 2024, 8:35 am

My biggest regret was not buying a house before covid. I thought about doing it, but I didn't and there's nothing I regret more than that. Now, houses are way too expensive, interest is high, etc. And obviously, covid set me back a good bit on money.

Dr34dm0nk3y - March 28, 2024, 9:10 am

My biggest regret is not taking school seriously. Both high school and tech school. I ended up doing decent for myself, but knowing how much better off I could be is irritating. And at 42, it seems like I am probably not going to excel any further.

CPA Exposé - March 28, 2024, 11:07 am

Not spending more time with family when I was too busy focusing on making money and hanging out with friends.

Everyone I love has died in the last 5 years. Both parents died, uncle dead, best friend of 9 years ghosted me, all I got left is a brother who lives in another state and we barely talk.

Syndicate - March 28, 2024, 11:12 am

(Mar 28, 2024 11:07 AM)CPA Exposé Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Not spending more time with family when I was too busy focusing on making money and hanging out with friends.

Everyone I love has died in the last 5 years. Both parents died, uncle dead, best friend of 9 years ghosted me, all I got left is a brother who lives in another state and we barely talk.

This is tough man, but you do need to focus on yourself at times as well. I'm sorry to hear bro!

TooBurnt - March 28, 2024, 11:23 am

Oh man this list is a big one now that I'm in my mid 30's.

Keeping the bitcoin I bought in 2010 would be a big one for me. Realizing I'm wasting my time on people who don't care about me or my life would be another big on.

blackrose_x0x0 - March 28, 2024, 1:43 pm

Getting into heroin and meth. That combo almost destroyed me about a decade ago and took me a long time to recover and turn my life around. While I do regret it, I've also grown so much because of that experience.

007 - March 28, 2024, 1:44 pm

Had someone offer me a stake in an NFT project he was running, I refused it because I was working on my own.

My project made about 10k usd, his made a little over 4 million. Could've been a millionaire right there right then, but let's trust that everything happens for a reason.

Syndicate - March 28, 2024, 2:55 pm

(Mar 28, 2024 01:43 PM)blackrosex0x0 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Getting into heroin and meth. That combo almost destroyed me about a decade ago and took me a long time to recover and turn my life around. While I do regret it, I've also grown so much because of that experience.

Glad to hear you got out of that safety bro, those are two very messy things to get into

Eran - March 28, 2024, 3:07 pm

Going for easy ways to make money instead of learning skills and adapting healthy habits.

Syndicate - March 28, 2024, 8:04 pm

(Mar 28, 2024 03:07 PM)Eran Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Going for easy ways to make money instead of learning skills and adapting healthy habits.

I agree with you as well. I regret not learning skills much sooner than I am right now.

Toscan - March 28, 2024, 9:12 pm

Not sticking to buying into BTC with everything I had in 2017 and hodl.

Syndicate - March 28, 2024, 9:59 pm

(Mar 28, 2024 09:12 PM)Toscan Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Not sticking to buying into BTC with everything I had in 2017 and hodl.

If it makes you feel better, back in 2010/2011 I had around 150 BTC that I gambled on slots or something silly ?

Hackers - March 28, 2024, 10:13 pm

(Mar 28, 2024 09:59 PM)Syndicate Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If it makes you feel better, back in 2010/2011 I had around 150 BTC that I gambled on slots or something silly ?

sounds about right lol

I calculated how much I could've made from all the money I spent on other things around that same time... yep, regretful.

diablospartan - March 29, 2024, 10:05 am

Well i regret as i miss to bang some girls beying too young and not having enough brain

KOWDO - March 29, 2024, 11:25 am

(Mar 27, 2024 08:38 PM)Syndicate Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) As the title says, what's your biggest regret in life?

There has been quite a few for me unfortunately. Throughout the years. I don't want something so simple as "I regret not investing in BTC" or something. One of my biggest regrets would have to be not taking a job offer that I should have taken the opportunity. I was too comfortable where I was currently working and the amount of work I would have had to do wouldn't have been worth it. swimin in bad habits

Absent - March 29, 2024, 4:48 pm

My only regret is wasting time

Syndicate - March 29, 2024, 5:58 pm

(Mar 29, 2024 04:48 PM)Absent Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) My only regret is wasting time

Everybody wastes time, there's always more of it. You need a break sometimes too, just to do nothing ?

Jinu - March 29, 2024, 7:26 pm

I failed to seize the time. Before Covid-19 I had a lot of opportunity to earn but I missed it.

Catnip6591 - March 30, 2024, 2:13 am

No regrets; only lessons.

LeetSpeed - March 30, 2024, 3:04 am

One of my regrets in life is trusting the wrong people.

Mustys - March 30, 2024, 1:07 pm

My biggest regret is that I didn't invest time and money in a food company that's big today. I focused on my drug selling and other stuff.

FunnyHands - March 30, 2024, 3:35 pm

Not investing more time into doing what I'm interested in, like writing or making YouTube content. I've done the absolute bare minimum, I feel like I wasted a lot of valuable time I won't get back.

I can't really say I regret much other than that, I'm happy being here with my GF for the most part.

tripac - March 30, 2024, 3:42 pm not believing in myself and blindly listening to the people around me. Its not a regret but more something that i wish i have done differently hornyamy2123 - March 30, 2024, 4:29 pm definitely taking old ones for granted i wish i could have my old life back with her

Syndicate - March 30, 2024, 6:56 pm

(Mar 30, 2024 03:42 PM)tripac Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) not believing in myself and blindly listening to the people around me. Its not a regret but more something that i wish i have done differently
You should definitely believe in yourself more! You know what you want best, especially more than anyone else

NGMA - March 31, 2024, 2:50 am

Going to prison and getting hooked on cocaine, heroin and fentanyl. Don't post much here anymore but glad to say I've been trouble free for a few years now and 18 months clean recently.

Alphamethylphenethylamine - March 31, 2024, 3:02 am

That's a really tough one. There's a lot of things I'd change about my past life experiences if I could. But regarding something I personally did and definitely regret, is taking back my (now-ex) girlfriend after she cheated on me. It turned me into such a bitter, cynical man and even though it was two years ago now, I'm still struggling tbh. But hey, it is what it is, right?

Deany - March 31, 2024, 3:32 am

Mine is not meeting Beherit sooner. We could've had our island by now!

Cap - March 31, 2024, 6:50 am

My biggest regret is not moving to another state right after college. We planned on it, just never followed through with it. We are going to at some point still, just wish we did it sooner.

Syndicate - March 31, 2024, 9:30 am

(Mar 31, 2024 02:50 AM)NGMA Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Going to prison and getting hooked on cocaine, heroin and fentanyl. Don't post much here anymore but glad to say I've been trouble free for a few years now and 18 months clean recently. Well that's a wonderful feat my friend. You should be proud of yourself

(Mar 31, 2024 03:02 AM)Alphamethylphenethylamine Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That's a really tough one. There's a lot of things I'd change about my past life experiences if I could. But regarding something I personally did and definitely regret, is taking back my (now-ex) girlfriend after she cheated on me. It turned me into such a bitter, cynical man and even though it was two years ago now, I'm still struggling tbh. But hey, it is what it is, right? Ex's tend to do that to you. I'm still punishing myself from my previous relationship as well even though I'm very happy in my new one (Mar 31, 2024 06:50 AM)Cap Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) My biggest regret is not moving to another state right after college. We planned on it, just never followed through with it. We are going to at some point still, just wish we did it sooner.

You got this bro! You still have time to do it. You'll get there eventually ?

Mustys - March 31, 2024, 11:56 am

(Mar 30, 2024 03:42 PM)tripac Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) not believing in myself and blindly listening to the people around me. Its not a regret but more something that i wish i have done differently You should believe in yourself, you're good as you are.

And I know what you mean by listening to the people around you.

You will learn over time, I don't know how old you are but as your getting older some stuff your parents or the one you grew up with will have right in a lot of things.

(Mar 30, 2024 04:29 PM)hornyamy2123 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) definitely taking old ones for granted i wish i could have my old life back with her I feel you, and it will be better stay positive!

(Mar 31, 2024 02:50 AM)NGMA Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Going to prison and getting hooked on cocaine, heroin and fentanyl. Don't post much here anymore but glad to say I've been trouble free for a few years now and 18 months clean recently.

I wish you the best, and I have been in a similar situation like you and soon been clean for 2 years. Stay up brother!

illuminati? - March 31, 2024, 7:03 pm

I wanna say I have regrets, but I am trying to look at everything as a lesson learned.

Scar . - March 31, 2024, 9:34 pm

Spending my early 20s wasting my time on dumb things. I could've had so much more had I started sooner.

DemonAsylum - April 1, 2024, 3:35 pm

Biggest? Fuck I don't even know off the top of my head. I'd have to really think about all of the major regrets I have and consider just how much negative they did, how different they could have made my life if handled differently, etc. Anyway, I certainly have plenty of regrets and multiple of which are large life changing ones. Naturally I wish I had gone about those differently. Some are related to how I treated important people in my life, how I didn't take full advantage of rare as well as great opportunities that I had the chance to, and some just how I handled or went about something really poorly if not in hindsight straight up objectively wrong. Despite these regrets though, I try not to dwell on them too much, think about the "what ifs" anymore than I can help, and let them define me or at least in a negative aspect.

TheCoz - April 1, 2024, 3:52 pm

I regret working 60+ hours a week from 19 years old until 30 I spent my 20s pretty miserable. I actually don't regret working that much, I just wish I would have worked for myself instead of making somebody else a bunch of money.

DemonAsylum - April 1, 2024, 4:09 pm

(Apr 1, 2024 03:52 PM)TheCoz Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I regret working 60+ hours a week from 19 years old until 30 I spent my 20s pretty miserable. I actually don't regret working that much, I just wish I would have worked for myself instead of making somebody else a bunch of money.

That's a regret I think a lot of people probably have. They don't necessarily mind having worked so hard or as much as they did rather than it having been for X pay or X company. I imagine for many of them though they realistically may just not have had better options, but while obviously needing to make money and so they did what they had to do. For those that it applies too, I hope they don't get down on themselves too much about it. We all go through shit like that where we have to just suck it up and do what we gotta do. Better to focus on being done and over with it rather than dwelling on having gone through it in the first place. Nothing we can do to change it now after all.

Yin Yang - April 1, 2024, 4:31 pm

Besides investing and saving as much as I could when I was younger, not much.

TheCoz - April 1, 2024, 4:38 pm

(Apr 1, 2024 04:09 PM)DemonAsylum Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That's a regret I think a lot of people probably have. They don't necessarily mind having worked so hard or as much as they did rather than it having been for X pay or X company. I imagine for many of them though they realistically may just not have had better options, but while obviously needing to make money and so they did what they had to do. For those that it applies too, I hope they don't get down on themselves too much about it. We all go through shit like that where we have to just suck it up and do what we gotta do. Better to focus on being done and over with it rather than dwelling on having gone through it in the first place. Nothing we can do to change it now after all.

Yeah its not something I dwell on, but if I were to go back in time I wouldn't do it again.

DemonAsylum - April 1, 2024, 4:41 pm

(Apr 1, 2024 04:38 PM)TheCoz Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yeah its not something I dwell on, but if I were to go back in time I wouldn't do it again.

I get you 100% and feel the same about certain things from my past as I'm sure we all do. Glad to hear you don't dwell on it though. Always gotta be looking forward ?

Mooooookie - April 6, 2024, 10:08 pm

Not thinking everything thru before making a decision. I used to be very impulsive, but being on the Internet, if you do alot of different business deals, you can't move too fast, or else you will get scammed. You have to do your due diligence on everything and everyone.

Syndicate - April 6, 2024, 10:35 pm

(Apr 6, 2024 10:08 PM)Mooooookie Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Not thinking everything thru before making a decision. I used to be very impulsive, but being on the Internet, if you do alot of different business deals, you can't move too fast, or else you will get scammed. You have to do your due diligence on everything and everyone.

Oh, absolutely! I still do impulsive things, but I at least think about them before I do impulsive things! ?

DemonAsylum - April 7, 2024, 3:43 pm

(Apr 6, 2024 10:08 PM)Mooooookie Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Not thinking everything thru before making a decision. I used to be very impulsive, but being on the Internet, if you do alot of different business deals, you can't move too fast, or else you will get scammed. You have to do your due diligence on everything and everyone.

Being impulsive can definitely bring you some problems and regrets. Sometimes you do have to make quick decisions and so being impulsive is essentially what's forced upon you, but at that point you just go with your gut or what you logically feel in the moment makes sense. Thankfully I think most decisions you get more time with before needing to make them and a sufficient enough time more importantly to where you shouldn't have to be impulsive. The things you mentioned about not doing so specifically on the internet are definitely good examples of those you don't need to and definitely shouldn't be impulsive for.

Perfect - May 3, 2024, 9:24 pm

Not falling into your life sooner!

Nah but my biggest regret is not seeing my grandmother one more time..

Deany - May 3, 2024, 9:28 pm

Current regret: betting on the MLB

Syndicate - May 4, 2024, 1:16 am

(May 3, 2024 09:24 PM)Perfec?t Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Not falling into your life sooner!

Nah but my biggest regret is not seeing my grandmother one more time..

Mine is my mother! I was there when she passed away in the hospital, but it happened so suddenly. I don't remember the last thing that I said to her sadly. I know it wasn't bad, but I don't remember it

Absence - May 4, 2024, 1:29 am

Eh having given up so much time to poor choices, consequences I must deal with handling for awhile. Eventually, I will be on the other side of it though. Hmm, or figure out a new way ;)

ELP4P4 - May 4, 2024, 6:14 am

Entering gambling field and lost everything I've ever collect.

Syndicate - May 4, 2024, 9:24 am

(May 4, 2024 01:29 AM)Absence Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Eh having given up so much time to poor choices, consequences I must deal with handling for awhile. Eventually, I will be on the other side of it though. Hmm, or figure out a new way ;)

At least you know that a lot of us on here have been in a similar situation and you're absolutely not alone here <3

Absence - May 4, 2024, 10:16 am

(May 4, 2024 09:24 AM)Syndicate Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) At least you know that a lot of us on here have been in a similar situation and you're absolutely not alone here <3

Yeah I would like to think that, even though I still have some things to deal with, I am pretty much done creating the same circumstances for myself over again.

Tired of that.

Perfect - May 4, 2024, 10:31 am

What I see is optimism and positivity and strength.

Love you all.

L?G?ND - May 5, 2024, 4:37 am

What I regret the most is prioritizing video games as a child. Regardless of the success that I carry today, I feel many years were wasted, years that could have consisted of memorable experiences.

Emeliesssss - May 7, 2024, 11:24 am

I did put my cat in the oven as a child. For my defence I was thinking it just should get like nice hot in there.

L?G?ND - May 7, 2024, 6:02 pm

(Apr 6, 2024 10:08 PM)Mooooookie Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Not thinking everything thru before making a decision. I used to be very impulsive, but being on the Internet, if you do a lot of different business deals, you can't move too fast, or else you will get scammed. You have to do your due diligence on everything and everyone.

There has been too many instances I was trying to execute a deal, but was hesitant. Expressing my concerns and wanting to exercise my due diligence. More times than not, it would upset the other party, as they deemed it as I wasting their time or me not being serious about the deal. I've noticed someone trying to scam you, will often pressure you or put you on a time constraint.

Syndicate - May 8, 2024, 12:47 am

(May 5, 2024 04:37 AM)L?G?ND Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What I regret the most is prioritizing video games as a child. Regardless of the success that I carry today, I feel many years were wasted, years that could have consisted of memorable experiences. Those years weren't wasted at all. You most likely wouldn't be where you are today without them homie. I know that I wouldn't be.

(May 7, 2024 11:24 AM)Emeliesssss Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I did put my cat in the oven as a child. For my defence I was thinking it just should get like nice hot in there.

Did the cat live? What happened to it man.

L?G?ND - May 8, 2024, 4:04 am

(May 8, 2024 12:47 AM)Syndicate Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Those years weren't wasted at all. You most likely wouldn't be where you are today without them homie. I know that I wouldn't be.

Did the cat live? What happened to it man.

You make a solid point. I definitely enjoyed those years of gaming. It greatly contributed to my current interests. Furthermore, the people I met and the friends I made along the way, I'll never regret that.

Syndicate - May 8, 2024, 10:05 am

(May 8, 2024 04:04 AM)L?G?ND Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You make a solid point. I definitely enjoyed those years of gaming. It greatly contributed to my current interests. Furthermore, the people I met and the friends I made along the way, I'll never regret that.

See! Those are always the things you have to remind yourself of when thinking of how much time you "wasted". Could you have done something better with your time? Yeah, probably. Same goes for me ?. But I don't regret the friends I've made or the people I've met

L?G?ND - May 8, 2024, 10:24 am

(May 8, 2024 10:05 AM)Syndicate Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) See! Those are always the things you have to remind yourself of when thinking of how much time you "wasted". Could you have done something better with your time? Yeah, probably. Same goes for me ?. But I don't regret the friends I've made or the people I've met

On the contrary, my time could have been spent on something actually worse, or life threatening. So I suppose I can thank video games for preventing bad habits.

It's funny, a lot of friendships I developed over a decade ago, still remain intact to this day.

Syndicate - May 8, 2024, 11:57 am

(May 8, 2024 10:24 AM)L?G?ND Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) On the contrary, my time could have been spent on something actually worse, or life threatening. So I suppose I can thank video games for preventing bad habits.

It's funny, a lot of friendships I developed over a decade ago, still remain intact to this day.

Exactly! I still have a lot of the same friends that I played with 10 years ago as well. I did lose contact with some of them but I hope to be able to reach them again one day ?

L?G?ND - May 8, 2024, 1:26 pm

(May 8, 2024 11:57 AM)Syndicate Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Exactly! I still have a lot of the same friends that I played with 10 years ago as well. I did lose contact with some of them but I hope to be able to reach them again one day ?

It's pretty wild, huh. Meeting someone online a decade ago, and still remaining friends. Most relationships I established during my school years, didn't even last that young. Hopefully, you're able to find them.

Similar situation for me as well. I know they're out there somewhere.

Moookie - May 8, 2024, 1:47 pm

(Mar 27, 2024 08:38 PM)Syndicate Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) As the title says, what's your biggest regret in life? To pick just one, would be a crime! I have many regrets in life, but the main ones entail wasting so much time and not focusing on what goals I wanted to achieve in life. Another one being, getting off the net when I did, instead of sticking it out until things got busy again. Another one being not creating a savings account sooner, just started my bank account approx 5-6 years ago.

Wizdominance - May 8, 2024, 5:42 pm

(Mar 27, 2024 08:38 PM)Syndicate Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) As the title says, what's your biggest regret in life?

There has been quite a few for me unfortunately. Throughout the years. I don't want something so simple as "I regret not investing in BTC" or something. One of my biggest regrets would have to be not taking a job offer that I should have taken the opportunity. I was too comfortable where I was currently working and the amount of work I would have had to do wouldn't have been worth it.

Spending more time with my parents before they passed away. I guess that's that but I am living a happy life with my room mates who happen to be my friends from college.

Moookie - May 11, 2024, 3:57 am

(May 7, 2024 06:02 PM)L?G?ND Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) There has been too many instances I was trying to execute a deal, but was hesitant. Expressing my concerns and wanting to exercise my due diligence. More times than not, it would upset the other party, as they deemed it as I wasting their time or me not being serious about the deal. I've noticed someone trying to scam you, will often pressure you or put you on a time constraint.

This is the exact reason that got me to adapt that mentality, was the scammers. Seeing an increase in scammers online, it gave me no choice but to slow things down and assess everything thoroughly before even considering it. In the way past, if something looked good, and it caught my interest, and I had the means to get it.. would just go ahead and get it without a second thought. But its like scammers have gotten way more persistent then they used to be. Before they would try a target, and if the target didn't bite, they would go on to the next target... not now, nowadays they'll keep pestering you, almost to the point of begging you, just to try and get you to fall for whatever it is they're trying to peddle. It's because of this you have to question EVERYTHING, despite how legit it may appear.

$!uo2H%gE# - May 11, 2024, 4:04 am

Regrets always depend on how old are you. Since I am almost 40 my biggest regret is, and I am sure always will be, all the time that I wasted. In the end, time is the most precious thing we possess.

BlackWidow1 - May 11, 2024, 4:46 am that you don't try a new flavor of cocoa.

L?G?ND - May 11, 2024, 6:16 am

(May 11, 2024 03:57 AM)Mooooookie Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This is the exact reason that got me to adapt that mentality, was the scammers. Seeing an increase in scammers online, it gave me no choice but to slow things down and assess everything thoroughly before even considering it. In the way past, if something looked good, and it caught my interest, and I had the means to get it.. would just go ahead and get it without a second thought. But its like scammers have gotten way more persistent then they used to be. Before they would try a target, and if the target didn't bite, they would go on to the next target... not now, nowadays they'll keep pestering you, almost to the point of begging you, just to try and get you to fall for whatever it is they're trying to peddle. It's because of this you have to question EVERYTHING, despite how legit it may appear.

It's absolutely insane the lengths that some of the scammers will go. Perhaps it's due to high cost of living or increase in poverty, but it seems like they are everywhere these days. I too have made similar mistakes. More so, because it was a purchase for under $100. Being ignorant, I thought why would somebody scam for such. I initially thought a scammer would want to hit big, as the risk is high no matter what.

(May 11, 2024 04:04 AM)$!uo2H%gE# Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Regrets always depend on how old are you. Since I am almost 40 my biggest regret is, and I am sure always will be, all the time that I wasted. In the end, time is the most precious thing we possess.

I feel like no matter what, if we find ourselves questioning our prior decisions and playing what if, we'll never be satisfied. 40 is still a young age. Furthermore, that's 40 years of experience. Chances are, you still have many more years to go. Start planning and become organized about your future. Make it a goal to accomplish or experience everything you think you may have missed out on. Life may be short, but it's never too late to begin living it.

Mooooookie - May 11, 2024, 11:11 pm

(May 11, 2024 06:16 AM)L?G?ND Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It's absolutely insane the lengths that some of the scammers will go. Perhaps it's due to high cost of living or increase in poverty, but it seems like they are everywhere these days. I too have made similar mistakes. More so, because it was a purchase for under $100. Being ignorant, I thought why would somebody scam for such. I initially thought a scammer would want to hit big, as the risk is high no matter what.

I feel like no matter what, if we find ourselves questioning our prior decisions and playing what if, we'll never be satisfied. 40 is still a young age. Furthermore, that's 40 years of experience. Chances are, you still have many more years to go. Start planning and become organized about your future. Make it a goal to accomplish or experience everything you think you may have missed out on. Life may be short, but it's never too late to begin living it.

That's it, can't underestimate anyone. I used to think like that too, that the item is under $100.. and that no one would spend their time making up such an elaborate scam, for $40... but as you said, the cost of living has definitely increased, especially the price of food, so people are willing to try anything. But I also feel like, we're in really good times right now, where essentially anyone can earn a living from social media if they try hard enough. If there are grandmothers, aunties and all these other people who had no previous experience with the Internet, now earning a living from it.. then I feel anyone should be able, with enough effort. A lot of times people aren't willing to put in the work, to get what they want. They'll invest all the time, scam baiting, but won't use that same time to learn a skill and master it.

L?G?ND - May 12, 2024, 8:55 am

(May 11, 2024 11:11 PM)Mooooookie Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That's it, can't underestimate anyone. I used to think like that too, that the item is under $100.. and that no one would spend their time making up such an elaborate scam, for $40... but as you said, the cost of living has definitely increased, especially the price of food, so people are willing to try anything. But I also feel like, we're in really good times right now, where essentially anyone can earn a living from social media if they try hard enough. If there are grandmothers, aunties and all these other people who had no previous experience with the Internet, now earning a living from it.. then I feel anyone should be able, with enough effort. A lot of times people aren't willing to put in the work, to get what they want. They'll invest all the time, scam baiting, but won't use that same time to learn a skill and master it.

It's actually insane the amount of public methods that provide a stable income. I can't agree more, many are looking for any easy way out, rather than putting in the work. I suppose it comes down to the culture or environment the individual was raised in. Perhaps, even a lack of guidance or structure as well. After all, morals are taught, not known. What we surround ourselves by and are drawn to, often dictate the person we become.

It's mind boggling how much time and effort will be spent on high risk, low reward activities. Looking at it from a different perspective, I realize how creative some individuals are. Like you said, if they applied that same mentality towards something productive, who knows what they would achieve.