Yep. Surprisingly there wasn't much discussion of it though. Think there were some convos going on but nothing that got made into a thread. Another noob plays stupid games and wins stupid prizes.

Also, a Nigerian "prince" got arrested too lol
Prince Onyeoziri Odinakachi

Also now that the owner is gone, i just wanna say, warzone was probably the worst rat on this forum.

Shitty written code, half of the features dont work, bots are unstable, supports take soo long to answer and even when they do they dont even help you.

Not really.. You never hear about the one's who never get caught.
And as for people like Daniel and 98% of the cyber criminals who get caught, they get caught because they're lazy.

Yeah I understand your point. Was mainly being rhetorical as in its a good principle to keep in mind.
So that you don't get lazy.

I think he means that the ones of us that are getting caught have let our guards down while deliberately doing things that we shouldn't.

Realistically, cyber crime should be a criminals haven, because we can cover our tracks.

And that is true for a lot of people. A lot of people are just living in uber amounts of criminal wealth, more than a lot of people will ever make.

Some people get comfortable in this. They stop being so calculated every time they do something, and all they have to do is get caught once.

Remember, there is people out there trying to work on arresting cyber criminals all the time. They only need luck once.

Quote:Today we were unlucky, but remember we only have to be lucky once. You will have to be lucky always. Give Ireland peace and there will be no more war u do realize he had his first name in his telegram handle and his last name in his discord handle right...

hes not exactly illusive. he didnt do much damage because he himself was a total noob. his "mentoring" is coaching people to bind .exe to .exe and upload as torrent, make a youtube promo video...

AegisTools was arrested, Corruption from HiveRAT was arrested too in the past month...
so...

they brought it on themself

Everybody's going to jail for making these programs and apps. why dont they release it with the intent for "legal" use?

You either live by the rules and play safe or play safer when you break them.

Selling malware I don't think is the biggest crime in the world it can be used for various things other than fraud or theft.

Warzone had its day got too popular, dev continued selling and eventually got caught.

The jail time is unjust compared to other jail times for more evil crimes IMO

I agree, also it is pretty stupid he used his real first name on platforms, do think that's one of the main reasons he was caught.

You did, I am pretty sure they used to be EVERYWHERE, they are based on the original warzone rat which was famous byitself, but they also used the HF advertising system from what I remember.

Ya, I was gonna say. I do like to logout sometimes and look at the ads and stuff and I feel like there was sometime with those. But newer ones have taken over now lol. But like they say all great things must come to a end lol. If you have ever used it did it seem better than others around like fat rat etc?

I used many rats back when I was interested in them.

Orcus, NanoCore, Dark Comet, you know all the basic ones, as well as newer ones like Async, DarkVision.

Compared to these rats warzone was literally shit, it was full of bugs, I swear to god, I would rather use nanocore.

DarkVision is the best one on here as it is regularly updated, they both were active in the same time so comparing them is fair.

DarkVision is what you would expect to be in a rat, Warzone is shit, DarkVision is proof that 1 great developer can be better than an entire team of shitty devs.

Yeah lol, genuinely, i use DarkVision for like home, office management purposes not for any "black hat" reasons and it is a great tool, simple to use, simple to deploy, allows running many commands on all machines at once for updating software, great tool.

Also the developer is very helpful

I never thought of the purpose of like "good" remote Management but that is a good idea lol.

98% of people here use rats for bad purposes, i think they are great for office management. Cheap and reliable, mixed with my custom app I can manage updates on all my desktops. Also no need for shitty anydesk, I have remote access easily

Ya that's true, pretty good idea ngl, when I first started getting more devices and servers and shit I setup smth called guacamole (https://youtu.be/gsvS2M5knOw?si=_HTdqhCG772xq3u3) idk if you have watched networkchuck he's a pretty good dude but he shows how to set it up. But ngl compared to setting up a rat to manage all that, the rat just sounds more fun lol. If you got a link to Darkvision or one you would recommend for that I would love it.
