You do realize this is the crypto section, right? So is your project a crypto project? Do you have more info to share about it?

A lot of information is missing from this thread. OP, could you share more details about the project that you are looking to launch. Maybe I could help

What your tech background? Very curious on this.

zapararus - March 31, 2024, 6:33 pm

it is a crypto project, so the country im in has the fastest gdp in the world, and i have connections to licensing for alot of projects i have funds and this would be a legitimate project with government backing. i was thinking to somehow use that to tokenize and get into real world projects please dm as i wouldnt like to go too deep in detail in case someone else might want to do the same
