Thread: V Rising

Allelujah - April 1, 2024, 10:27 am

Is anyone looking to return to V Rising or start for the first time? They're releasing the game out of beta in May I believe.

I'm looking for more people to play with, shoot me a dm or something.

I've watched a few streamers play it and it looks pretty interesting. I'm just not the biggest fan of games like that. More of an FPS guy.

Saw it and it was nice, but the requirements for the game is telling i will never play it soon at least

Never played it before and don't even think I've watched much for it either. Survival game of sorts though, correct?

For those that don't know, it's like a top down version of valheim with vampires

Ended up looking into the game more and it seems solid. Saw it's coming to PS5 this year too which is cool. Don't think it's something I'd play honestly, but again it doesn't look bad by any means.

I didn't think I'd play it either, gave it a try and kind of hooked

If it was drier for me personally when it came to games I'm interested in getting back into or already playing a bit than I'd probably be more open to giving it a try. Thankfully though atm I'm pretty content with all I can already play. Not to say it isn't still tough deciding what of those options to play
