Target an AI data center? That's probably the best answer you'll get. You need to have access to a machine to query its hardware.

Oh, and if you're trying to mine crypto on GPUs, you need to rerun your risk/reward calculations.

I am not sure if you mean, password hash brute force, or apply an Ai to this GPU. However, google is full of things like this. Good luck and I hope you have a VPN and Proxy chains, and a good understanding of how to use them. Or a really good lawyer.

Even the act scanning of an infrastructure without a proper signed documentation for Rules of Engagement from said infrastructure owner or caretaker can constitute a felony.
