Thread: Adult CPA: Still worth the time?

Moookie - April 5, 2024, 1:40 pm

What's your thoughts on adult CPA? I promoted adult cpa for over 5+ years, using free traffic methods and made decent money while doing it. But I think those days are over. When I say they're over, I don't mean literally.. as anyone can register at a network, get a smart link and if they try hard enough get a couple leads. I say it's over in the sense of, it's just not worth the time and effort.

Free traffic requires you to consistently maintain whatever setup you have going to generate traffic, and with the amount platforms update.. I feel the pennies networks pay for leads just isn't worth it. That same traffic can be used to earn much more money, thru other monetization techniques. Onlyfans has taken over the adult industry, people are less interested in signing up for fake dating sites. Just wanted to hear others thoughts on this.

Depending on the offer or the smartlinks, if you do it automatically then its still profit no matter how much it will earn

Yeah, but just because something is profitable, doesn't mean it's worth your time doing, as you could be doing something spending less time, earning more money. Adult cpa was designed to make the networks rich, not the person promoting the smart link. Yes, you will earn.. but that same traffic could earn you a lot more monetizing with other strategies other then adult cpa.
