Thread: How to become a hacker in 2024\(for programmers\)?

vv_vvvvvv_vv - April 11, 2024, 12:30 pm

Hello, I just started my journey.? And I want to become a hacker, of course.?

I'm asking for resources and other stuff, for educational purposes. I know about youtube and git hub . But maybe there is something more accurate. I'm interesting in forums, or chats especially about web.

Also I have a programming background (full stack development), so I know how websites and web servers work. And I know linux basic so, I think I can start.

So, I will be very happy if you send me something interesting or useful for script kiddy in 2024 :)?

The resources for learning hacking are probably not that different from programming. I will suggest one book. <https://archive.org/details/network-basics-for-hackers/page/n3/mode/1up>

I would recommend just watching youtube videos, tryhackme and hackthebox, portswigger (for web vulns), zSecurity, hackersploit, etc.

There are some tutorials on paid sites like coursea, Udemy (warez disallowed) etc but most of them are paid. You can find basically all the paid information on Udemy (warez disallowed) or coursea on youtube or wtv.
