I'm sad to hear that, it'll get better!

My 1000th POST!

BiNBo - April 17, 2024, 7:21 am

Hmmm three words.....I got it.

Not my job.

I've spent the last two weeks, and will probably spend another few months, covering for two guys that just left the company and I inherited all of their work, including a ton of duties which are way outside the scope of my job.

But eh, I like the guys and wish'em the best. Just wish they knew how bad them leaving screwed me lmao.

Monday morning, at an understaffed dev agency. We'll make priorities, we'll have a great plan, and then things will get thrown at us daily throughout the week that aren't part of our Monday planning session. Then Friday comes, we haven't finished our original priorities due to doing a bunch of other stuff instead
