(Apr 20, 2024 09:07 AM)Lowkey Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Keep in mind this happened years ago I don't want the stoners to think I'm weird or anything..

Around 2017 there was a 420 that happened and I didn't smoke at all. Everyone thought I was "being weird" for not smoking.

Ended up getting a full nights sleep and had a great breakfast the morning after.

So yeah- sometimes I go off the chain during 420, a real rapscallion.
LMFAOOOO bro perfect haha! excellent 420 story!!???

I remember when I was 14 or 15 years old, me and about 12 friends gathered and went to the lake for a picnic. We ended up with around 70 grams of weed and just started rolling joints and smoking non-stop. While we were chilling, a huge dog, like a Kangal or a Corso, approached us. It turned out he was the guard dog of a nearby property. Despite some of my friends panicking and running away, and others climbing trees in fear, I stayed calm and welcomed the dog because he seemed friendly and curious. It's funny to think back on how scared everyone was, with some slipping in the trees. What a hilarious memory!

Mhmm. Can't really say what my best 420 story is, as I have so many... but I can share a funny story. One time me and my ex went on a smoke ride, and decided to hit up the Chinese food buffet to satisfy our munchies. So we're in there fcking up everything we could get our hands on, and my ex tapped my foot and whispered that the workers of the restaurant were pointing at us, and talking. We had been in there for about a half hour or so, and was trying a little bit of everything, the munchies had really kicked in. By the way they were pointing and whispering, we thought we were going to get kicked out. So I got up to goto the bathroom, and was going to ask them if everything was alright... as im not really one to bite my tongue, but when I got close to them the guy put his two finger to his mouth, so signify taking a toke from a joint, then pointed at me and then my ex, then started bursting out laughing. So while I thought they were going to kick us out, they really thought it was hilarious seeing us high as a kite, tearing up their food. Left them a decent tip for being such cool and understanding people.. and that was that!

Happy day after 420!! All I can tell you is that after smoking tuff for the past 20 years I put down the pipe for the sorbet. If you haven't tried it yet it'll blow your lid off. It's like ice cream and only certain pot shops have it. This stuff is only $8 and has 100 mg of thc in it (they have it with cbd too for $1 more). Eat a whole one and you might forget your own name. I ate two last night and went to get pizza 15 minutes from our house. 30 minutes later I was parked on the side of the road with no idea where i was or what i was doing. It's made by Cormorant but I'm sure there are other companies. Yes i know this sounds like a commercial but i tell all my stoner friends about it cause its da BOMB!!!!

Yesterday was a cool day. Took an edible at 4:20pm and spent the evening watching 3 Body Problem on Netflix. Cool story.

Happy late 420! No crazy stories here really. Once, I took an edible and made a concise plan on how I want to afford some music festivals, created a very specific plan on how to make enough money to go to them, and followed through it. Those music festivals kind of changed me forever as a person, so that's my story.
