Thread: Community Alert . Komodo

Migos - April 21, 2024, 11:28 am

User who im posting a community alert on is the following said shit bag @komodo@

Komodo was taking care of the sales thread for coined simply because he wanted to stack more b ratings which i should of thought was fishy to begin with but that is on me. Anyways he was running it for a while now and iv never really even checked up on how much he has sold of the memberships. So could of been getting beat from the beginning. My fault for paying less attention to the site ill own that. Regardless if i get recovery or not i want people to always remember that regardless your business you should always keep a watchful eye on anything you have at least a little bit of care for instead of letting the tree rot.

So he wanted to do the sales i let him, he paid whatever for a few months idk but this last time when i came back after a break he said it made like 400 , i said oky cool ill drop you a tip then a few days later i sent him the adress he sent me $300.

Then he says oh it was 600 in the address and i say okay here is the wallet then. then he tells me like im not giving it to you, then i am but fuck you wait. Really childish shit things i would only expect from a 13 year old not a 38year old USMC Nurse... smfu.

After he told me he would stop sales he made another sale to user

Which i still have not retrieved.

Amount @komodo@ scammed for $400-500 estimated or more.

Pictures are incoming here but there is alot so get ready.

Not even going to acknowledge this.

The total amount was from my own personal account, which includes your sales.

I have an excel spreadsheet of all sales of coined. Nobody paid full price for lifetime, because it's a group.

I wouldn't do any business with Migos. Guy tries to work you like a dog and then treat you like a piece of shit.

I wouldn't risk my account over $200, you're an idiot.

Edit: I sent $350, which is literally what you asked for. I was in the army, not the USMC. And I was never a nurse.

Thanks.

This isn't a Deal Dispute. Seems like a personal falling out more than a Community Alert.

Hope you can work it out or at least ignore each other but try not to bleed your drama onto HF.
