Generally speaking, you can find those kind of services in the marketplace.

This costs 25 bytes:

You may get a response from op if you post asking for it:

There are other people selling paid versions and I am sure mentorship with it, otherwise, try consulting with some people.

Good luck.

Here's my suggestion.

Go to the last page of this section and read every thread that doesn't involve someone asking for a pack. There is about 14 years worth of knowledge here. When you are done, find or create a generic profile pic, set up a Snapchat or Instagram account and just start talking to men without selling anything to see if you can handle this. Ewhoring isn't for everyone. After you see what it's really about, then you can come back here and ask the specific questions to get the answers that will make you better.
