Hello people.

I notice a lot of traders who show their profits in trading, but all of them actually only serve by promoting their lessons, packages, telegram channels, signals, etc.

I am wondering if its there actually a trader here among us or do you know someone, who actually keep their food on the table and pay bills only with trading and not with all the other crap and faking. And i wonder what you trade and which way of learning did you use / you are using. Some legit way with proper material.

I understand market economy, can read charts etc. but trading for me is like a roulette 50 -50 with just added another factor which is time - how long you keep the position open where emotions are not helping you.

Thanks ??

I wish you the best in this specific subject. I tried it but I was also young at that time.
