Has anyone started watching this? So far there have only been 3 episodes released with a new one coming each Saturday. It's super good so far and the main character is a 31-year-old man which is a pretty cool and refreshing idea.

I started last week with the 3 first episodes and it's really good in my opinion, the scheme/story is pretty "classic" with the low level guy that powers up but the draws and the animation are very good and it's also quite funny Watched those 3 episodes and really liked/enjoyed them.

Ended up rearding the manga. Fun part will soon end.

Yeah, I think they just give the main character some quirks that makes him a bit unique.

Ahhh, Didn't realize there was a manga. I've never gotten into reading them."

You should go give it a chance, it's great.

I might have to give reading manga a try.

Sadly, can't read English translated copies. Not a fan of the translations and for other reasons.
ahh, did you learn japanese by reading it? I've always wanted to learn it.
