Thread: And to be honest, I wasn't even trying

Mooooookie - May 5, 2024, 1:16 am

The fact that I actually won Omni's contest, feels amazing. Not only did I win once, but I won twice! Let me guess, it was rigged too? Give me a break, tis the luck of the draw. This is bad ass, considering I never win anything... and when I say NEVER, I mean NEVER!!! I can't tell you the last time I actually won something, so to have actually won was a complete surprise. And to be honest, I wasn't even trying when I was posting... as in, I wasn't thinking about the contest when I was leaving my posts this month. I was actually focused on achieving another goal.

So I just want to say thanks to Omni for even hosting the contest, let alone giving out all those amazing prizes. Look forward to more contest in the future!

Hell yea man. I didn't think it was rigged. Did somebody say that? I think you had good luck, and deserve it.

Nah, nobody said it was rigged... it was a troll/inside joke in reference to something completely different. The person/people who it was for, will know the reference when they see it.

Lol. Funny thing is, I honestly forgot all about the contest. I'm quite sure there were a good amount of people that were posting more frequently then normal, in a bid to win the contest. I honestly forgot about it, although I did set my eyes on getting permanent Uber from the start. Either way, it was a bad ass contest... cash and prizes, how can you beat that!! I didn't even realize Satoshis were worth that amount. I was thinking it was like $5-10.

Thanks brother, I appreciate the kind words.

You won Permanent Uber too, right? I couldn't think of a more deserving member to receive the permanent Uber award. I feel like you will wear the badge with honor, and pride.. and you're certainly very active on the forum.. so will represent it well. Congratulations my man.

What type of surgery did you have, if you don't mind me asking? I'm actually on the waiting list for a major surgery that I'm not looking forward to.

Congratuatiions for the win! You deserve it since you gave so much with your own giveaways.

Enjoy it

Zher0 - May 5, 2024, 2:47 pm

Yeah, I've been really active and wasn't thinking about the contest either. I didn't win anything, but I've been more active the past month than I have for YEARS.

Congrats btw!

OpSecSurvival - May 5, 2024, 5:51 pm

It Pays to be an HQ member of HF and not a loser posting crap everywhere starting arguments. your a problem solver, and a very rational thinker.

i think your quite deserving of every bit of it brother! We both won permanent Ub3r! YEE!

I usually never win anything either, and came home from work only to find my account LACED with awards and upgrades... it was quite the SHOCK i will agree. i was not expecting to win whatsoever much less win TWICE....

Rly happy for you bro, this will help w you business goals!!! ur awards look official AF too, Jelly

I wasn't aware of the contest, but I think it's pretty cool and the rewards were more than generous. I too, have been more active this past month than my entire time on this forum.

I made a decent suggestion and just got tagged for it.

I asked for my ole awards back I don't have expectations but I'm grateful to be on here still and I'm grateful to see you being so supportive and active on here to all the members. I appreciate you OP and congratulations!!! You have earned it. Don't disrespect yourself like that :)

The same here. I won Ub3r upgrade. I got bytes bonus for daily check in once and that's it. That was a nice surprise.

Yeah, I honestly want to get it over and done with, unfortunately I have no choice but to wait, as there is a waiting list for the surgery.

Shout to all of you great people. I would of replied to each one of you individually, but I already made way too many back to back replies on this one post, and don't want the post to come across as spammy.. but still wanted to acknowledge every last one of you. Appreciate the kind words. See you around the forum!
