Why wouldn't it? You really should have that much in a single wallet anyways.

Feather allows you to create multiple wallets. I suggest 10 with $5m each.

Send me $1m in XMR for the tip. :)

Feather is the equivalent to "Electrum" for Bitcoin & Litecoin. I can vouch for Feather just like Omniscient.

I found cake wallet pretty good personally. Have a soft spot for mymonero as it was the only wallet that was I was able to import Coinomi wallet key to after much trying. Xmr stopped suddenly stopped working on Coinomi a few years ago and they still haven't fixed it to this day. ???

Haven't heard of feather wallet before but I'm going to check it out because of omni's recommendation.

Use an official wallet go to their website (don't get a phishing link) you can load a lot there, but it depends on the liquidity of the pools whether they can process your transaction.

Feather is lightweight but it gets the job done.

feather can hold has any amount you want, but is advisable to create address within feather and distribute the amount in smaller chunks
