Thread: Anyone mentor me on how to change my financial situation.

jrjam - May 10, 2024, 4:23 pm

Hi, I am aware this is a complete longshot, but I am so sick of my situation and would like to see some legitimate change for once in my life. Can somebody please show me a way to consistently make money and I am willing to give them my 100%. I do not even require a lot my target for a good life would be €500 per week.

Treat me as a complete blank slate but I'm willing to invest the time into whatever you show me as long as you can prove it's something worth doing.

If you decide to help me, you are also helping my family which I greatly appreciate and will not be forgotten.

If you are willing to spend time and energy, there are plenty of free ebooks available here, just search the forum, I am 100% sure you will find something which works

Good Luck

Buy some tools, use those tools to create success. Use that success to foster growth, and then use that growth to make some decisions about your creed. Using your creed, amplify the success, adapt your growth, change your decisions.

Doesn't matter if you buy a screwdriver, a power washer, a laptop, malware, ebook, car, dog, business, employees..

If you want money for showing up, get a job or a boyfriend.

If you want money for growing up, ask your parents.

If you want money for risk, commit crimes.

If you want money for your body, be a woman(orwhatever)-of the night.

Just apply for a job, $500 a week is easy.

Jail lmao. Free food, free cuddles, free bed.

Constant risk of exposure.

Similar to the military.

Why don't you join the military?
