Thread: GME ON SOL IS PUMPING

Offiialwifi - May 14, 2024, 1:38 pm

Meme Tokens are starting to go crazy, from DOGE back in the day, now to MYRO (which is the same as DOGE but the owner of SOLONA dogs name haha) and now GME on SOL is up 2400% this week alone! Even Andrew Tate on X (Twitter) has BUY GME in his BIO. Its pumping. Last night it was 0.010, and today got to 0.020. Luckily I got in back in March before the pump, so now everything just extra, been buying the dips and selling the highs the last two days. GME on SOL.

GME, MYRO, COQ, DUK, HNT,

(I am not a financial adviser in any way shape or form, these are just my findings and my own and friends experiences)

I feel sorry for anyone who falls for this. Or on, I don't, not really.

Euaggelistes - May 14, 2024, 1:56 pm

Yeah...I'm not quite getting this...

What website did you pop from ?

As someone who has started a bunch of Sol memecoins, it's all a pump & dump at this point and literally everybody who's buying memecoins knows it

Thanks for the exit liquidity!

Yeah I don't get the hype around all these memes. 99.99% of them are money grabs. DOGE is the only legit "meme" token in my opinion.

I will never understand why anyone would buy something called 1kbok or 1kshiba OTHER than leverage traders making quick scalps. but even then thats just making an already dangerous game, worse.

I think it only costs $2 to make a pump fun coin.. And to be "listed on photon" just means liquidity is added. Every new coin is listed there.

Pump fun is over-saturating the memecoin market imo but still good money to be made there

Even the crypto apps and exchanges are shilling out these crap coins.
