Do you even realize that you're not supposed to create another thread just for announcing winners?

You're literally the only dumb ass to do it. All of the other giveaway hosts just reply to the giveaway thread and then close it.

Are you really grinding hard for those Bytes you got each time you create a thread? Fucking morron.

Do your job fucking useless mods Bastille @Charlie Seen@ I can't post links but the page 1 if this section is only threads created by this bytes farmer

That's a lot of reactions for just some threads of someone who is giving to the community, don't you think ?

I don't understand why this escalated so quickly. I mean, you just registered and you're already insulting members and threatening staff ? Or maybe it's not your main account so it's a multi ? You can send me a message or tag me if needed I'll do my best to find a solution, but when you do, do it properly.

What it does state is the thread should be closed after the contest it over... which I did. But let me explain it to you for clarification(next time have the heart to comment under your real username, imagine creating a fake account just to express whats on my mind, lol). I close the thread, so that no other users can enter the contest while I'm generating the winner... which should be honestly be common sense.

If you really allowed something from an online forum to get you that mad.. your problems are much bigger than anything related to this contest. Get a job, and don't depend on a contest to pay your bills. This is just that, a contest, and you're not guaranteed to win. But someone will win. And guess what? I'm going to continue to do them.. and you're going to continue to be mad about it.. lol, but that's not going to change whether I do them or not, life goes on. ?

Lol. I just read what all the crying is about... bytes? Lol. You do realize I BOUGHT these bytes... not got them from the contest. Genius. Why would I need to "farm" bytes if I'm literally giving away money??? USE YOUR BRAIN. Imagine crying over bytes on an online forum.
