Thread: Today I turn 16 on HF !

#TR0J4N - May 25, 2024, 2:30 am

Well well well, I feel old, today I'm celebrating exactly 16 years on HF, after 8 years of absence Last Login: Apr 30, 2016, 03:44 PM

On a day like this I created an account on HF

I was able to successfully resurrect my account, one the contributing factor to this absence is moving to a new country with no contacts or language proficiency to start from scratch. Life has been good so far.

I was checking old emails and I stumbled-up on HF emails, and that's triggered my curiosity to check on the old folks here and create new connections with new members, so here I'm.

I was a pro lurker and still that doesn't post that often, right now I hangout mainly on the Lounge and the chat.

Long live HF

Welcome back, and congratulations on all these years on the site. Pretty dope that you were able to recover your account after all those years, and didn't lose it. Your decade on HF award was patiently awaiting your return. Here's to another 16 years.

Zalbai - May 25, 2024, 4:50 am

Happy 16th anniversary on HF! It's great to see you back after such a long absence. Moving to a new country can definitely be a challenge, but it sounds like you've managed to make a successful start. It's always nice to reconnect with old friends and make new connections.

Long live HF!!

I'm interested. Since you've been here since 2008, can I ask why you joined Hackforums? Are you here for business or just chatting for fun? If it's for fun, why did you choose Hackforums?

Mainly to fulfill my curiosity, and learn the community was so helpful and there was a lot of resources to learn from. I was looking for things and Google brought me here
