

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: LinkedIn Page Growth

Koyote - May 29, 2024, 2:35 am

Does anyone here offer a service for helping to grow a company page on LinkedIn? I've tried searching and not found much of value, so figured a request thread might be useful to both myself and others searching in the future.

asapr - May 29, 2024, 7:23 am

Honestly, from personal experience you can easily get a LinkedIn company to 700-1k followers without spending any money, in about 4-5 months. This should be enough to make a company look reputable (not sure of that is your goal). All you need to do is max out all monthly connection invites on your (and preferably your partners) accounts, target them correctly and then invite them to follow the page after they accept your connection. With some effort and patience you should get there. For automating your reachout and connections, I can suggest LinkedScraper - will take a bit to get used to it but it really speeds up the job.

Zaddie - May 29, 2024, 12:27 pm

I have growth for LinkedIn, but it's not from the US/EU

Tyr - May 29, 2024, 2:22 pm

(May 29, 2024 07:23 AM)asapr Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Honestly, from personal experience you can easily get a LinkedIn company to 700-1k followers without spending any money, in about 4-5 months. This should be enough to make a company look reputable (not sure of that is your goal). All you need to do is max out all monthly connection invites on your (and preferably your partners) accounts, target them correctly and then invite them to follow the page after they accept your connection. With some effort and patience you should get there. For automating your reachout and connections, I can suggest LinkedScraper - will take a bit to get used to it but it really speeds up the job.

Hey, thanks for this information. Much appreciated.

Koyote - May 31, 2024, 12:58 am

(May 29, 2024 07:23 AM)asapr Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Honestly, from personal experience you can easily get a LinkedIn company to 700-1k followers without spending any money, in about 4-5 months. This should be enough to make a company look reputable (not sure of that is your goal). All you need to do is max out all monthly connection invites on your (and preferably your partners) accounts, target them correctly and then invite them to follow the page after they accept your connection. With some effort and patience you should get there. For automating your reachout and connections, I can suggest LinkedScraper - will take a bit to get used to it but it really speeds up the job.

Genuinely good advice here, and something I hadn't considered in getting all the team to do the same. Thanks! I'll check out the Scraper tool too.

(May 29, 2024 12:27 PM)Zaddie Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I have growth for LinkedIn, but it's not from the US/EU Where does the audience come from?

anaumarcin - January 7, 2025, 9:35 am

(May 29, 2024 07:23 AM)asapr Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Honestly, from personal experience you can easily get a LinkedIn company to 700-1k followers without spending any money, in about 4-5 months. This should be enough to make a company look reputable (not sure of that is your goal). All you need to do is max out all monthly connection invites on your (and preferably your partners) accounts, target them correctly and then invite them to follow the page after they accept your connection. With some effort and patience you should get there. For automating your reachout and connections, I can suggest LinkedScraper - will take a bit to get used to it but it really speeds up the job.

hi, i had read your post, LinkedIn Page Growth. i would also be interested in this LinkedScraper program. do you know how exactly it works? and where i can get it? i would be happy to hear from you. greetings