Well, it looks pretty worn out now, but it's a specific T-shirt I have worn to my first bigger music festival, and it also happens to be the first time I did molly. Lovely memories :)

I have a Supreme t-shirt that my mom borrowed and dyed her hair in. At the time I was like yo.... could have been any other white tee.

Now I am happy she did it in that one. I miss her so much.

My fiancée bought me some Balenciaga trainers which were RRP £799 or something like that. Only wore them twice!

A bucket hat stole from a market during an erasmus trip a couple years ago
Fits so perfectly

I buy cheap cloths, I'd suppose my favorite would be a random big shirt and some very nice shorts, both were like 5$, I just like em lol

I have a few band shirts I could never fully part with, but once they get too tattered up I'm just going to slide out the center and make a display.

Most things are junk, but I feel like it helps with your memory to have at least a few mementos from your past.
