Solid service offering here, thanks for laying it out clearly. I manage reputation for a few small-mid sized businesses and I've been testing different approaches to handling stubborn Google reviews. Quick question:

Do you also handle cases where multiple reviews are hit at once (like a spam wave)?

And if yes, do you offer tiered/bulk pricing for that scenario?

I'd be interested in discussing further, since I often get clients asking specifically about removals in addition to suppression strategies.
