

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Do you like multiple entry contests or single entry contests more?

gwiz - June 6, 2024, 12:17 pm

Was thinking about doing a contest, but I want to here from you guys first.

Do you like multiple entry contests or single entry contests more?

Betty Blue - June 6, 2024, 12:30 pm

A single entry contest is more fair to people who can't sit on a contest thread every hour to post or find new people to tag.

Personally I don't mind and I'm happy for the opportunity.

gwiz - June 6, 2024, 12:33 pm

(Jun 6, 2024 12:30 PM)Betty Blue Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) A single entry contest is more fair to people who can't sit on a contest thread every hour to post or find new people to tag.

Personally I don't mind and I'm happy for the opportunity.
I agree.

Having to find someone who hasn't been tagged yet AND doing multiple entries are the reasons why I barely enter contests.

I think single entry is easier and makes tagging new people a bit easier.

hussain.spams - June 6, 2024, 1:20 pm

Single post as against multiple post entry are beyter

Jamika - June 6, 2024, 1:20 pm

(Jun 6, 2024 12:17 PM)gwiz Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Was thinking about doing a contest, but I want to here from you guys first.

Do you like multiple entry contests or single entry contests more?
Multible entry with no obligation to mention someone, will be better

SuseGD - June 6, 2024, 1:40 pm

I personally like single-entry a lot more.

Absence - June 6, 2024, 1:55 pm

I don't think there is a singular preference for me. I enjoy multiple entries, or ways to get multiple entries. I think that it really depends on what you want. Hella replies? Lots of views? Lots of entries? Or keep it simple?

I also enjoy single entries, I think it gives everybody a chance, and that is cool, but someone who isn't a regular HF scroller has a higher chance of getting an award. A 2 day old account can win money, then never be seen again, which is completely in their right to do what they want -- but personally I feel better knowing a person who I see active somewhat regularly or frequently get the prize.

I assume by your posts single entry is your preference!

Aeowulf - June 6, 2024, 1:59 pm

Honestly, I prefer the single entry. The multi-s get carried away. That's just me though.

Rahul007rhp - June 6, 2024, 9:39 pm

Multi post with 24 hour re entry thing. That's kinda a fair contest imo

DashPHP - June 7, 2024, 12:25 am

Even on multi post contests I typically post once or twice. So I'm more in favour of single posts.

Multi posts helps keep the thread active and noticed though.

Deany - June 7, 2024, 2:46 am

The pros to multiple entries are obviously you can earn more bytes, but the cons it becomes a spam fest

Chung - June 7, 2024, 2:59 am

Single. Too much spamming in multiple ones! Make sure I win also.

Eran - June 7, 2024, 5:22 am

I'd just like to add that shorter duration contests are better :)

Yanix - June 7, 2024, 5:44 am

Single entry for a short period of time.

Multiple entry, one every 24 hours for much longer time for a giveaway contest.

DemonAsylum - June 7, 2024, 5:38 pm

Single entry though if someone is set on multiple entries than I think once every 24 hours is fine too and about as fair for multiple entries contests as you'll be able to get for everyone.

G?df?t?? - June 7, 2024, 5:40 pm

Single entry. It evens all of the odds which I am all for.

gwiz - June 7, 2024, 6:13 pm

(Jun 7, 2024 05:38 PM)DemonAsylum Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Single entry though if someone is set on multiple entries than I think once every 24 hours is fine too and about as fair for multiple entries contests as you'll be able to get for everyone.

I'm thinking about doing 3-5 entries for upgraded and 1 entry for non-upgraded, because someone mentioned how new members might win and never come back.

Artisan - June 8, 2024, 12:27 am

Short ones with single entries.

DemonAsylum - June 10, 2024, 5:40 pm

(Jun 7, 2024 06:13 PM)gwiz Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm thinking about doing 3-5 entries for upgraded and 1 entry for non-upgraded, because someone mentioned how new members might win and never come back.

You could also just make the giveaway for upgraded members only if it's that big of a concern. Even with the 5 to 1 ratio difference, the situation you mentioned could happen still, albeit it's of course much less likely. If you're worried about it at all though than you might as well just make a change that guarantees completely avoiding it from happening.