I still remember reconsidering being an organ donor after that part of the anime.

Ye sure, somethings were total turn-offs for me, but I think overall, it was a decent story.
Definitely better than a lot of the mess I see nowadays.

It was a great anime kinda on the same vibe as high school of the living dead but more sad.

Too many times they added comedic effects to the story at the weirdest time and it ruined it for me.
Same opinion. At first I thought it was really awesome especially when the anime was first released a decade ago but when the comedic effects of the story suddenly appeared, the seriousness was gone and I got bored though I still finished it till the end.

I had mixed feeling with the entire series but still its cool to see school girls with guns and reminds me of other animes such as R.O.D. the TV, Black Rock Shooter and Gunslinger Girl. ?

Checking them right now and thank you for the recommendation. Will add it to my list once I am done with my projects. Thank you very much again Tsundere!
