Pretty cool, that's pretty satisfying to look at. I wish the US government cared more about the looks of public spaces to look nice.

You don't like the litter-infested, concrete, and herbicide-sprayed highway look?

This isn't an actual optical illusion is it? I thought optical illusions are the things that trick you. Like you might be seeing the black dot in the middle red but it's actually black. That sort of thing.

This just looks like two halves of pictures put together ?

It is fascinating how our brains tricking us, and how it process images.

This is amazing! Optical illusions like these really highlight the creativity and skill of photographers. The attention to detail and the ability to create such a mind-bending image is truly impressive. Thanks for sharing, Euaggelistes! It's always great to see art that makes you do a double take.
