I played it against Stanley, you can play against other people, you perform attacks (DDOS / scans etc...) and you defend your self against your opponent attacks (WAF, Antivirus etc ...)
you have multiple ports from where you can perform your attacks. I don't have much details.

I've played it a couple of times. It's kind of like battleship if I remember correctly and if you guys are familiar with that game. No one really plays though as far as I know. I'm surprised it's even still on the site honestly. Suppose it probably doesn't hurt just leaving it there though rather than whatever effort is required to ditch it.
