Thread: A high quality thread for high quality discussion

Net Hustler - June 22, 2024, 10:01 am

I would like to start a thread for high-quality discussion. How are you all doing today? Do you have any hustles that are making you some extra money? if so what is it? hope you all have a wonderful day and keep being HQ!!!!?

EDIT: I forgot Fludems upgraded me to ub3r he is def a HQ member thank you

Mercury - June 22, 2024, 10:32 am

My favorite side hustle is honestly thrifting and braking for yard sales, lol. I don't make an astronomical amount of money, but I run an Ebay store so it's fun finding things that other people are looking for.

Hope you're doing well.

Now this is the type of HQ thread HF needs! Have a great evening brother man!

I cry blood - June 22, 2024, 6:04 pm

I got bored and added another Github repository today. Its a TLS exhaustion DoS attack. It uses SOCKS4 proxies at the request of the user for a layer of anonymity.

Its in Python though, and its slower since its an interpreted language versus a compiled one. I plan to see re-write it in GoLang but not tonight. Gonna drink some WildTurkey whiskey and watch family guy re-runs.

Congratulation on the upgrade!

This is the second time you noticed my eggs. Hahahaha. ? I wish I could play but I don't have enough bytes plus whenever I incubate them and let them be, they get destroyed easily so its pointless UNLESS I have tons of bytes. ?

For your bytes need you can always reach out DemonAsylum or Aeowulf and they will always ready to sell you some bytes ?

True true, but I wouldn't want someone to spend money on bytes just to hatch eggs only for the HUM from them to inevitably die haha. That's a waste of course. Keep their money at that point ?

It's like a gamble maybe he could get the hum award for 50 kills or maybe prevail as top contender before the season ender for this HUM game.

Think they'd be better off gambling the bytes against Scamley honestly and we know how that usually goes ?

But if you are on winning side just be sure to cash out some before losing them all, that would be the best move rather than losing them all eventually.

Yeah in the chance you run it up a bit, you gotta have the discipline to walk away. Unfortunately many struggle with that haha.

Well, I have gone to that spot where I struggle to cashout before I lost them all but as I have experienced that situation I see to it that I hit up someone that I can sell some winnings while I still have it on my hands. I am just sad to see Eran that he never learn from his failures, I guess it's the 3rd time he do self banned after losing them all in just few seconds.

Ahh yeah I saw him with 40-50k the other day and then I went away for a few hours. Came back to find he self banned as well as left the Warriors Discord, maybe others too, idk. Even without seeing his bytes I knew it would only be due to having lost them all. Sucks, but that's how it goes sometimes. Maybe a break will be good for him.

If that happened for the first time and didn't learn from the 2nd time then he should know what to do the next time around but still fail to do so. I have said to him that he should have cash it out to you before losing them all but he still keep on flipping.

Well he says it himself and whether while being genuine and truly self aware or not, he's a degan when it comes to gamba. Obviously don't mean it in a disrespectful way either. Many of us have struggled with that gambling stuff too. He's always asking for bytes, providing input on others gambling bytes, and then as we've seen a few times now, can't control himself too well when he gets in deep. I thought he said like a month or 2 ago that he was gonna be backing away for the most part from that kind of stuff as well as HF as a whole, but I guess not. Mind you, it's great having him around in general. If he could just chill with all of the bytes / gambling stuff, that would surely be best. Easier said than done of course though.

I can't really input because I don't know Eran that well but he should have quit well he was ahead your expected net return with gambling is always going to be 0

Oh absolutely. Some people just get into this mindset of wanting to win just a bit more or whatever the case is. They keep pushing that envelope until inevitably they take a couple of losses in a row. At that point they then feel the need to recover and so chase it despite the fact that they're still up a good amount. What often follows is them proceeding to lose it all.

Should be like you my man and just horde bytes and then just sell em and buy em now there is some expected net return in that my dude ??

I've been very sucked into gambling multiple times in my life, but I'm incredibly glad that flipping is just not fun to me in the slightest. I'd probably be ending up bytes broke as well ?
