Thread: would you want to live on mars?

Calmbot - June 26, 2024, 3:57 pm

say you just landed on mars with enough things to make it survival for billions of years what would you do and would you want to live there in the first place? (you can also take 1 person of your choice this can be anyone)

Pr0m3th3us - June 26, 2024, 4:26 pm

Yes but it would be an extreme physical challenge. Also there would need to be a steady supply of Beer...

DemonAsylum - June 26, 2024, 4:27 pm

Nah fuck all of that. I'm all set down here on good ole planet earth. I'm sure circumstances could arise that make me change my mind though lol.

Sshhhh don't tell him. It's all part of my plan.

First we get demon to use his influence to have Omni make a group. Then those members of said group eventually shitpost so much that we end up starting a space fairing company. Then we all end up going to mars and colonizing it.

See what Demon doesn't realize is that since he's a member of said group he will go to Mars also. Even though he claims he doesn't want to.

Awesome, see the team is coming together already.

Aliens from all around will come to drink our beer.

Have Elon make you a beer bottle rocketship and the ability to live on Mars. A beer company can sponsor it and provide you with lifetime beer.

We have thought about that, but it isn't very areo dynamically stable on earth. That's why Jeff uses a penis shape, it's genius.

Are we talking just the shaft or do the balls play a factor here as well?

EmperorZurg-1 - June 26, 2024, 8:08 pm

Nah earth is a pretty awesome planet.

What's your favorite part about it Zurg?

oRequiem - June 26, 2024, 8:09 pm

Not really. It would just seem miserable honestly.

Ahh yeah that's an obvious one. Not sure why I even had to ask ?

Deany - June 26, 2024, 10:57 pm

Sure if it's relaxing why not

Aeowulf - June 27, 2024, 5:11 am

Sounds miserable. I love nature. Can't do it.

No...not a the current time I wouldn't.

TooBurnt - June 27, 2024, 5:46 am

Absolutely not. I'm a creature of comfort and I don't think mars has the comfort I want yet.

The balls were part of the early design, we kept a thick white liquid in them perfectly balanced on either side to help stabilize it mid flight. But it was abandoned later on in favor of a more gyroscopically stable design and also we ran the risk of contamination of another planet if the liquid ever shot out all over a life form foreign to earth.

Hmm, interesting. And how far along are we to the finished product?
