Thread: How I made \$30 the first day EWHORING

looksmax - June 29, 2024, 11:21 pm

Hello everyone, although this method is heavily talked about here I thought I would shed light to my own experience. Ewhoring as a whole is a super super super super easy thing to do and it would take a retard to mess it up, trust me. Honestly, Just keep trying, even though I wanted to give up because texting horny old men is draining I kept going. I came across my first $30 which although is not a lot as the famous quote goes "Slow motion is better then no motion ya heard" I used snapchat and reddit and somehow got my way out of verifying for this one guy and it was money from there.

E whoring wasn't great. I wasted my time with it.

diablospartan - August 20, 2024, 11:44 am

Happy earnings and i like your optimism about ewhoring and i wish you many more to come

But the difficult part its to have a consistent income each day with ewhoring or any online buainess ,thats the difficult part Congrats on making $30.. while I respect your hustle, I do think you should find a better means of making money online. It's 2024, there are much easier ways of making money online, that don't require you to spend hours online talking to horny old men. And in hindsight, ewhoring is essentially just scamming, and scamming imo is a great way to generate some bad karma. That's just my opinion though, don't let me rain on your parade.

Robchau - September 27, 2024, 1:58 pm

No offense but how bad do you need cash to be fake texting old guys straight or gay lmao

What is easier than ewhoring? I'm a woman and have been reading about ewhoring here forever, but I do think it would feel pretty icky. I don't even want to read the junk men say to me on the dating sites. ?

In my opinion, earning money thru social media monetization, is much easier then ewhoring. It's not that difficult to figure out/come up with a plan on how you will go about things, and there are literally 12 year olds as well as grandparents earning money thru this same means.. if children and old people can earn a steady, monthly income from it, then there really isn't any reason that the next man/woman can't do it too. How does it work? Every popular social media platform out there, has there own monetization programs, and these programs typically payout once a month. From my experience, 99% of the time.. these companies will always payout on time, and will always pay you any money generated from the previous month, as long as you abide by all the terms of service of the site.

I personally only use Instagram to earn money on the side, as I've been automating it for some years and it's the platform I'm most familiar with, but that's just my personal choice.. all of them pay, and on time, and I can confirm this as I'm part of a tight-knit private group, that contains people earning thru all of the top social platforms via monetization programs. Earning proofs are typically posted each month, so we can confirm that these platforms are still paying out.. and I can confirm that Instagram, Facebook, Youtube, TikTok, Twitter, and Snachat are all currently paying. Your best bet is to create your own content, as from experience, platforms prefer when your upload original content as opposed to re-posting and/or uploading repurposed content. Is it fast money? No. Payments are typically once a month, but the thing about it is.. the payments are consistent, and can become passive if you set things up correctly. Either way, it doesn't get any easier then getting paid to post content.. and essentially, that's what most these platforms do.

Instagram Subscriptions is my go-to monetization program, which is similar to YouTube memberships in how it works.. where as users pay you for additional content, not included in your regular account. TikTok has a subscriptions program as well, but as far as I'm aware it's only for LIVE subscriptions, but from whats being said.. they're supposed to be expanding it to non-LIVE creators as well. One needs to just find what works best for them, as we all have different tastes in life. I would advise choosing which platform you're most comfortable with, reviewing all their monetization programs, choosing which one suites you best, and going from there. If you're not good with creating your own content, then I would advise learning how to repurpose content.. and how to repurpose it correctly. If you're going to use other peoples content, you need to make significant edits to it, in order to be able to use it again, and get paid. Some of the people in the group I'm part of, earn strictly from repurposed content.. so that's proof that one doesn't need to be the best content creator to be successful, one just needs to learn how to repurpose content correctly, and you'll be just fine. All these platforms work pretty much the same way, they like when you post original content, and reward you for authentic engagement on your account. So once you have figured out your content strategy, your next move will be building up engagement on your account. Views, Comments, Likes, Shares, Saves are all considered engagement.. and the more of it that you have, the more your account will be recommended to other users, which in turn will grow your account organically.

Congrats on the 30$ what did you spend it on?

Biggy_Asian - October 3, 2024, 11:43 am

Never bothered with E-Whoring tbh I never saw the profit:time ratio really be in a favorable position for me to consider it working. $30 a day is alright but could make more doing others but GJ.

Wow, I didn't even expect anyone to bother to answer, let alone take the time to give all this detailed advice. I mean technically I know this, but have never gotten off my ass to do it, and you've encouraged me. I do make some money with Print on Demand, but the money I used to make with it heavily dried up because the companies I was using either banned me [because of bullshit claims...like NO no one alive owns sole rights to a painting from 1905, so that was complete bullshit. It was absolutely public domain] , or put the charges on artist have gone through the roof.

I make money on Kindle Direct Publishing consistently despite not having done ANYTHING with it since December 2020, so I know I could make a lot more if I'd stop getting distracted from it. But I do know if I made a social media channel I could promote my KDP with it, while of course proving a lot of value other than self promotion. I just have to stop being lazy and messing around.
