Thread: bitcoin crash / winter incoming / new floor?

60k has failed. the daily and weekly range has also been broken. what is the new floor?

i believe if we base it on the previous patterns. we are looking at at 30k being the absolute floor.

though a sharp decline is imminent.

current price : 58k

I agree with you. I can see BTC going over 63k soon.

It usually is the case, esp when it “looks” like the opposite is about to happen. Hahaha

I think a reason for the dip might be binance removing the option to trade with USDT and leave only USDC but its just my opnion.

the floor is much higher than 30k rofl, that is a doomer take

Zher0 - July 4, 2024, 10:21 am

With all the ETFs and institutional investors, I don't think it'll ever drop below$50k again. I bought more at $57000-$58500 sure i agree with you, but it definitely has failed 60k.

i personally wouldn't buy at that price point, especially when litterly few days back it touched 57 and went back up, than back down at that range. theirs no basis for it to hold anything above 50k rn.

my prediction is it'll dip faster than the 60k range, to 40s. it'll only take another war for it to touch 60k again there hasnt been a influx of volume, rather a decrease. idk how ETF's are gonna play. Their might be uprising of eth tho overtaking btc.

germany selling all it's btc that's the reason for the decline, germany hasn't made any great decisions in the past 100 years

also, whatever you think and want to happen, that won't happen

Goose Gladwell - July 4, 2024, 3:16 pm

Recent news says German MP Joana Cotar has urged the German government not to sell the crypto as planned, so at least something positive appears to be going on. They could sell it off network to mitigate market pressure.

RoadHouse - July 4, 2024, 3:25 pm

they push down so how can get it for cheap because they can not hold the market with buying on over 70k

so they spoke the investors and wait to get rid many holders so how they can buy it after the incoming surge

Maskin - July 4, 2024, 5:00 pm

Altcoins and memecoins is the only reason BTC isn't over $100k yet
