It is very disappointing to start with negative criticism. Yes, the moderators saw this thread and placed it in the correct section. In the future, please only write relevant posts related to the offer here. We would appreciate it.

In the past we've had immense issues with casino script sellers not delivering after accepting thousands of dollars in payments.

Suggest that buyers keep that in mind and use HF Contract plus a middleman.

sowestart you're not selling a cheap item. That's fine but protecting the community from scammers outweighs your sales need. You're a brand new member, offered me a percentage to vouch for you as a referral, no way am I gonna do that. You want to advertise here you're welcome to do it the same way everyone else does. The standards for you are no different.

I completely understand your point. However, we don't sell casino scripts, we provide "crypto casino software." As mentioned in our FAQ, clients do not get access to the source code, nor are we interested in having our code running freely on the internet. Additionally, we offer guarantees to our clients, which can include initiating a contract directly on HF and accepting the payment via PayPal as goods and services (ensuring buyer protection).

For those interested, it's straightforward to get in touch and test the casino, including all games and the live casino. We have demonstrated our capability and reliability. Regarding the price, it may be considered high by some, but in reality, it is quite accessible for a business with this dimension.

A little marketing lesson:

Yes, we offer a %, it's a logical marketing strategy. Even casinos offer % with their revenue sharing system.

Also if someone can bring clients, for sure and with a great pleasure we can give a %

WE TOTALLY AGREE, INTERESTED HF BUYERS SHOULD GO THROUGH AN INTERMEDIARY AND START A CONTRACT

By the way, if you actually read the post in the thread, we encourage people to buy goods and services through paypal (if you don't know what paypal is, it basically gives you customer protection for 6 months if the seller doesn't provide the service ?)

You certainly have a knack for pushing boundaries on this topic ?... but if the relevant question doesn't pique your interest, perhaps it's best to divert your attention elsewhere. Thanks.

Thank you, I am fully aware of what paypal is. I am simply encouraging people to use a trusted middleman. If the service is legit, then I am sure there is no problem.

Good luck with sales. :)

Why are you selling this instead of running the Casino/s yourself?

yourself?

Why am I selling this instead of running the casinos myself? Well, it's quite simple, really. Imagine owning a fleet of luxury cars and deciding you'd rather spend your time driving all of them yourself instead of hiring skilled drivers. Sure, you could do it, but wouldn't it be a bit exhausting? Plus, there's a certain satisfaction in watching experts handle the intricacies, just as there's a thrill in observing a master mechanic fine-tune an engine rather than getting your hands greasy yourself.

Running a casino is much like maintaining a high-performance vehicle. It requires constant attention, expertise, and a lot of time. I could, of course, manage it myself, just like I could change my own oil and rotate my tires, but wouldn't it be more practical and enjoyable to let professionals handle it? Besides, this way, I get to see the enterprise flourish under the care of someone who lives and breathes the casino world, much like how a car enthusiast would revel in seeing their prized possession maintained by a top-tier mechanic. So, I'm offering you the keys to this sleek, finely-tuned machine. Take it for a spin, and see how far you can go! ?

What about gambling license and if someone do hit a big win who covers the bill?
