

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Are There Still Websites That Show Full Personal Data Exposed in Breaches?

furryincel - July 10, 2024, 10:05 pm

A few years ago, there were websites where I could enter my email and view all my data exposed in database breaches—not just the breached sites like on haveibeenpwned.com, but detailed info including usernames, passwords, emails, IP addresses, phone numbers, and more.

Do these services still exist?

Bastille - July 10, 2024, 10:13 pm

I know intelx.io but you need to purchase the pro version to access the data

InspectorGadget - July 11, 2024, 9:20 am

There was a really good one shared here a couple of years ago that was just as good as the paid versions. I sadly can't remember its name. Only posting incase this jogs another members memory and they might be able to name it.

IIRC it was shared via buying the link through a bytes attachment (link in a notepad basically).
Bastille Is there a way for me to view my Bytes unlock history? I don't buy much so if I can see that I should be able to find it quickly.

Bastille - July 11, 2024, 9:23 am

(Jul 11, 2024 09:20 AM)InspectorGadget Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) There was a really good one shared here a couple of years ago that was just as good as the paid versions. I sadly can't remember its name. Only posting incase this jogs another members memory and they might be able to name it.

IIRC it was shared via buying the link through a bytes attachment (link in a notepad basically).
Bastille Is there a way for me to view my Bytes unlock history? I don't buy much so if I can see that I should be able to find it quickly.

You can see how you earned or spent your bytes by clicking on it on your profile :
<https://hackforums.net/myps.php?action=history&uid=1029177>

For example here is your history :