People are total sweats who know every single combo for each character or spammers who only know one. Also they're always super dirty toxic people. Does anyone else get irked by the people that play these games?

True , they ain't my thing either

Another thing I hate is how kinky some of these japanese games are. Always makes the female character in a bikini with her tits jiggling. Shits lowkey weird.

I enjoyed them when I was younger and we all had those friends that were one of the 2 you described haha, but I haven't been into them in a long ass time. Prob wont ever be again honestly.

I like fighting games, but I very much prefer fighting AI, in games like Tekken, Mortal Kombat etc, pvp it's very difficult and combos are hard to counter

I like fighting games.

It's pretty repetitive, but it's also enjoyable on occasions.

The AI gets lonely after a while.

but you try to boot up online and get annihilated by some guy playing the funniest looking character.

Last time I checked farming simulator left game pass. Biggest loss of my life.

Only fighting game I played was Street Fighter, it had some cool characters in it. Otherwise, they're not my thing either. Especially the likes of Mortal Kombat are just over the top when it comes to gore but I guess that's why people like them.
