Thread: Hey! How are you finding spreading RAT's? Create anything 'cool' with Chat GPT?

The Watcher - July 14, 2024, 9:29 pm

Hey, any skids on this internet with an actual life?

Let me know what you've done with Chat GPT...I would like to use it to spread. But other than making seriously cool fake plugin pages/download pages, I don't know!

Or let me know anything else you've done with Chat GPT... I expected this forum to be going nuts!

But it is quite good at helping with writing credible phishing mails for people like myself who suck at english. :D

Yeah, I guess for it to straight up "give you ideas" would make everyone rich today. But I mean, coding basic malware and such. I think it's still possible with Cursor, though Chat GPT limited it a lot now.

Can you share a good phishing email it has made? I got someone to make me one recently, and improved it with Chat GPT. :-)

I'm English, but I'm looking for partners to make £. Hit me up if you think we can work together! I have no friends, but I can adapt my mind and get focused on making money if it's fun.

Amen!

When you mentioned not having any friend it reminded me of reading somewhere about a person who used ChatGPT or some other AI as their "partner". If AI can fill such a gap in peoples lives to the point of replacing real humans then i can see a value in it. Imagine what AI can be used for a few decades down the road.

Mind boggles.

Yes, I guess I could do that. I was actually thinking that earlier this morning. But the thing is; I don't know of a AI that will stay remembering everything I tell it. As in, when I make a new chat, or continue to talk a lot, it will forget.

Of course it will. Then the engineer will cherry pick data, relevant prompts, and train the accompanying dataset.
