

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: CFB 25 Online Dynasty

McClubbin - July 16, 2024, 10:51 am

Anybody play this early and interested in a Dynasty (Basically CFB's version of Madden's 'franchise') on any platform (cross-compatible)? There are 10s of thousands of online dynasties currently ran but less than 2 handfuls have more than 1 user in them, and most of those are private. Me and my bro with a friend or two of his are gonna fire up a dynasty soon if we can get ahold of enough people, some MFs just play instant exhibition all day long. Its intrigue as well as draft recruiting comp., building a coach or stacking existing, and of course the satisfaction of built stats have always been worth it! I got Purdue, my brother's Bucky Badger's squad. PM or comment on here and please hesitate none!

Cheers,

Matt

DemonAsylum - July 16, 2024, 11:05 am

It's awesome to see so many people hyped about this being back and having a great time with it. Hopefully there are some people here who will jump in on this with you, but regardless I hope you all simply enjoy the game. I'm not too big on sports games anymore, but again it's great to see a bunch of people excited about this one.

McClubbin - July 16, 2024, 11:09 am

(Jul 16, 2024 11:05 AM)DemonAsylum Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It's awesome to see so many people hyped about this being back and having a great time with it. Hopefully there are some people here who will jump in on this with you, but regardless I hope you all simply enjoy the game. I'm not too big on sports games anymore, but again it's great to see a bunch of people excited about this one.

Oh it's state of the art from physics engine to new features, definitely most advanced and in some ways most outstanding Football video game created by man. Only downside is that they completely scrapped the College Series after NCAA 14 until now. Still worth the wait I promise, thanks for the good vibes and may you conquer many a case of beer whether watching IRL or immersing in the next gen video game.

DemonAsylum - July 16, 2024, 11:11 am

(Jul 16, 2024 11:09 AM)McClubbin Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Oh it's state of the art from physics engine to new features, definitely most advanced and in some ways most outstanding Football video game created by man. Only downside is that they completely scrapped the College Series after NCAA 14 until now. Still worth the wait I promise, thanks for the good vibes and may you conquer many a case of beer whether watching IRL or immersing in the next gen video game.

Love to hear the advances that have been made for the game and especially considering how long it's been since the last. I have friends that were really bummed it went away and in turn are really excited it's back now haha. No problem for the good vibes of course and I hope you continue to love the game ?