Do you think Spain it's going to be a poor country?

I have lot of issues with Spanish people on a video game, they're really toxic, however I went many times to Spain when I was younger and I really appreciated the people, really chill people IRL, good memories of this country

I've heard few things on the news recently about Spanish people being pissed off by immigrants, they need to protect their country to not being overwhelmed by immigration, but I guess it's a common issue for Europeans

As a spanish person i completely agree with you, i dislike how Spain is going. The new government is taking us for fools, it deceives us and on top of that it is full of corruption.
