Thread: Finally got time off work and they mispay me :\(

CAVEman - July 29, 2024, 12:49 am

After 2 years at this place I got 2 weeks off approved and I timed it so the first day would be my payday.

Go to check my payslip for my first week off and payroll fucked up and my leave was put through as unpaid instead of Annual leave and head office said there's nothing they can do this week as they payout to all staff at once but I'll get it next week.

So I have another week off with $30 to spare wooo!

Just had to rant tbh

Damn, that fucking sucks. Really shitty and unfortunate screw up on their end. On the bright side, at least you still have a job and such. Could always be worse of course.

Not sure where you live but there are a few apps that will give you an advance or "loan" and you can pay it back once you get paid.

Sorry to hear theyre fucking with your pockets tho ?

Damn that sucks. I can't believe they aren't able to process an off cycle check. Most companies have a procedure in place in case there's an issue with payroll.

TooBurnt - July 30, 2024, 10:09 am

This happened to me once and my company just sent a wire transfer but I had to pay a $20 fee. It showed up in my account the next day.

I hope everything goes the way you want it to, my friend

Totally understandable. Finally getting that time off and you're limited on what all you can do, get, etc given the pay situation. Definitely sucks.
