Thread: Ever been SCUBA diving?

blackrose_x0x0 - August 1, 2024, 1:16 pm

Anyone here ever been scuba diving before? I've been thinking about getting certified lately and would love to dive in the Bahamas one day. That would be a dream come true.

Would you ever do it? If you have been scuba diving, what was it like?

Ah I BlackRose I was wondering who you were lol. How ya been man?

I haven't been scuba diving but I would like to check it out sometime. I used to work with a bunch of guys from Puerto Rico, and they would all vacation there and then come back to work, they used to show me pictures of parts of the water where it was closed off and only scuba divers were allowed. The water was something out of a movie, you could see straight down it was so clean and clear.

Done it once in hurgada, felt good, little afraid as deep in water but amusing

What all did you see while doing it? Fish / animal wise? How long were you under for? Whatever all you actually remember of course lol.

What about skydiving? OP has done that and talked pretty highly of it. I know it's a bit more extreme than either previously mentioned thing though as well ?

Oh yeah for sure man. I would love to give it a go - although the idea of flying the plane is more attractive to me than jumping out of it haha Lmaoo yeah that's fair. Being able to pilot a plane is of course a completely different ball game than simply having the balls to jump out of one is all ?

If you ever have skydiving questions hmu I'm pretty much obsessed. Your first skydive can be a life changing experience, at least it was for me.

While I've never been scuba diving, I do enjoy watching people scuba dive on TV. There is so much going on down there, it makes some good entertainment.

Same here I love watching videos of people diving especially in tropical waters. It's like seeing another world and crazy beautiful.

Nope but it's definitely on my bucket list

Hey brotha, how are you? I haven't tried this scuba diving but honestly I love to explore the deep blue sea. If given a chance I am going for it ?

gwiz - August 2, 2024, 2:40 pm

I would like to try it but only in safe water, the ocean do be scary...

Most definitely. It's almost like a whole other world down there.. so much different things going on. Never actually thought about going scuba diving myself, but if the opportunity presented itself, and all the proper safety precautions were given, I would likely be all for it.

Exploring the deep blue would absolutely be an amazing experience. Some of the marine life might freak me out a bit like sharks but I feel it's totally worth it to see parts of our planet most will never see with their own eyes.

There is some crazy shit down in the deep for sure. That brings both some fear as well as excitement though.

Yeah I'd like to think the experience would be a combo of both awe and wonder with some fear sprinkled in there haha. Besides marine life I'd love to explore sunken ships and stuff like that.

I'm hoping they have some great stories and info to tell about it. Surely they wouldn't be lying right? ?

I doubt they're lying. This is the internet and everyone is honest ?

I would like to hear some stories though if they want to share.
