Thread: Disney hacked, Leaked 1.1TiB of data because..... Club Penguin got shut down???

A furry hacktivist group has breached Disney, leaked 1.1TiB of data, and says it's because Club Penguin shut down

Disney has suffered a massive leak of employee and company information, after hackers claimed one of its software managers was the victim of a Trojan horse malware attack. A whopping 1.1 tebibytes of data has been leaked online, including personal information and details of unannounced products, including videogames. And the hackers say they're furries, and cite the shutdown of Club Penguin in March 2017 as justification.

Personally, not mad at the hack. I kind of agree, I loved Club Penguin.

There did need to be some serious payback for what happened with Club Penguin.
