

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Suggestions for a Toradora substitute?

padrino - August 5, 2024, 4:57 pm

So I'm not a huge anime guy, but a few years back I was recommended Toradora. I gave it a chance, not thinking it would be my thing, but holy shit I was hooked.

So, anyone got any recommendations for similar shows that might hit the same?

EDIT: Yo I've just found a handful of threads on this exact topic in the forum - I never bothered to search before posting. Sorry.

But still, those are pretty old by now any new insights are very much welcomed. Thanks!

ubas - August 5, 2024, 5:08 pm

(Aug 5, 2024 04:57 PM)padrino Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) So I'm not a huge anime guy, but a few years back I was recommended Toradora. I gave it a chance, not thinking it would be my thing, but holy shit I was hooked.

So, anyone got any recommendations for similar shows that might hit the same?

EDIT: Yo I've just found a handful of threads on this exact topic in the forum - I never bothered to search before posting. Sorry.

But still, those are pretty old by now any new insights are very much welcomed. Thanks!
personally really liked horimiya :D

banonkiel - August 6, 2024, 10:42 am

You can visit the MyAnimeList listing for the anime and check the recommendation section, I believe that would save you time.

Also, I'm not sure if this feature still exists on MAL, they introduced Stacks or Lists recently. Where people stack/list together all the shows they recommend, you can check which stacks that has Toradora and give them a try.

You can find hundreds of decent rom-drama, definitely not all as decent as Toradora.

edit:

I wasn't wrong about stacks

Deany - August 6, 2024, 10:46 am

I want to have sex with Taiga.

Vip?r - August 6, 2024, 12:45 pm

the angel next door spoils me rotten neightworks. - August 6, 2024, 3:00 pm

Battery acid in your eyes is comparable.

