Welcome to HF!

Take a moment to read thru the Help Docs, there are the official rules of Hack Forums.. while most people like to skip over these formalities, its best to take a few moments to review them so you don't break any of the rules on accident. You might also consider upgrading your account, this will unleash a multitude of new features and perks that aren't available to regular users.

That's about all I got for you my man, enjoy your stay!

I saw a post from you saying you can Sim Swap

So I was wondering, Do you know how to bribe Phone Carrier Employees?

If you do, then if I sent you a list of personal information on Binance account owners with a lot of money I collected welcome to the forum.

Would you be willing to share 50% of the money with me?

if you haven't already, you should take a moment to review the Help Docs. these are the rules of conduct on the forum, abiding by these will prevent you from getting any warnings, or possibly banned. another thing i like to recommend to new users, is consider upgrading your account, as this not only helps the site owner with maintenance, but also unlocks a ton of features that are not available to regular members.

hope to see you around.

Welcome to the forum, but you should really try and make more nuanced thread. This one too short.
