I would immediately go shopping and then take a long vacation to a quiet and peaceful place

Buy a new car, a new house, quit work, go to vacation for a month

I'd probably call a lawyer of some sort immediately. Then a financial advisor. I'd probably buy some cheap property in a flyover state so long as it has good infrastructure (internet, etc) and live off it for the rest of my life, hopefully, while making even more money and perhaps moving upward from there.

I'd like to say I'd be sensible and pay off the mortgage and give money to friends and family, but what I'd actually do is form my own 'stable' of fat people and pay them to race against each other for my amusement.

Spend it all on HF of course!
